TALMADGE ORDERS STATE PHONES OUT IN ENJOINED AREAS

ACTION IS REPRISAL TO COURT'S ORDER

Governor Issues Long Statement Reviewing Situation; Master in Chancery Not Named.

The southern division offices of the state highway department at Fitzgerald and the South Georgia College at Douglas were without telephones Monday night after Governor Eugene Talmadge had issued orders that they be removed as a reprisal to the action of eight independent Georgia telephone companies in obtaining a federal court order enjoining rate reductions ordered by the Georgia public service commission.

As far as could be learned Monday the Fitzgerald offices and the Douglas college contained the only state telephones in the areas served by the companies which obtained the federal court injunction at New Orleans.

In connection with the executive order directing that the telephones be removed Governor Talmadge issued a long statement, in which he reviewed the telephone situation, including in it the order of the public service commission which directed that the rates be reduced.

Long Must Defend $500,000 Libel Suit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The District of Columbia court of appeals ruled today that Senator Long, democrat, Louisiana, must defend a $500,000 libel action for libel brought by Samuel T. Ansel, former counsel for the senate committee which investigated the election of Senator Overton, democrat, Louisiana.

The libel suit is one of two civil actions brought against Long by the former judge advocate general of the army.

When the suits were filed, Long moved to quash service of the civil summons on the ground of immunity from prosecution while in Washington.

This right is given by the constitution to members of the senate and house while congress is in session, Long claimed.

The court of appeals ruled, however, that the constitutional protection against "arrest" of members of congress does not cover service of process in civil suits so long as the service does not involve actual detention of the person.

Supreme Court Orders Halt In Prohibition Prosecutions

Those Awaiting Trial or Having Appeals Pending Must Be Released, Highest Tribunal Rules.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The person charged with violating the federal prohibition law and not yet tried, or who has been convicted and has an appeal pending in a higher court, will go free.

The supreme court so ruled today in a unanimous decision handed down by Chief Justice Hughes.

Justice department officials said it affected upward of 9,000 cases involving 13,000 or more persons.

Under the decision, cases pending against persons charged with violating federal prohibition will be quashed. Those who have been convicted and have appeals pending will be set free. The ruling, of course, does not affect persons convicted of violating state prohibition laws.

Nor, the court explained, will it affect those convicted before repeal of the federal prohibition amendment who are now serving sentences. Attorney-General Cummings declined to comment on this phase of the decision until he had had time to read it.

At the justice department, it was explained, however, that the policy so far had been to give more favorable consideration to applications for pardons from those who had good records aside from their prohibition violations than to those from racketeers and gangsters.

Today's opinion was given in passing on two cases from North Carolina where Federal Judge Hayes ordered the discharge of Claude Chambers and Byron Gibson. The judge took the position that he was without jurisdiction to proceed with the trial because the eighteenth amendment had been repealed. This was in the face of a plea of guilty by one of the men. The government appealed to test the question and determine

With prospective witnesses flooding the office of the solicitor-general with calls, a special session of Fulton county grand jury has been called for 10 o'clock Thursday morning to investigate charges of racketeering among relief recipients. With the increase in the number of persons offering information, the special session was agreed upon by E. J. Barker, former man of the jury, Marvin L. Baker, investigator gathering evidence for presentation, and Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

In support of charges that CWA workers and those on the relief rolls are spending money for liquor, it was announced Monday by John McCollister, of city criminal court, that CWA workers figure largely in violations involving drunken driving which have come before the court during recent weeks.

Bootlegger on Rolls. One case reported to Baker involved a negro, whom the informant said he knew to be a bootlegger, who attempted to cash his relief order on Saturday night after offering to make a small purchase, ostensibly with the view of buying his week-end supply of liquor.

At least one instance has been found where a CWA worker receiving as much as $10 per week for his work was at the same time receiving emergency relief.

HOUSE APPROVES $950,000,000 FUND FOR RELIEF, CWA

Only One Dissenting Voice is Raised Among Representatives; Senate Passage Expected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—One man, and he a democrat, shouted "Yes" in the house today as a $950,000,000 relief and civil works appropriation that catapulted through that branch of congress and went to the senate for speedy action.

"It is unconstitutional," said this man—Terrell, of Texas. "Others can vote like dumb driven cattle if they want to but I'm not going to. They can't snap the whip behind me."

There was some grumbling by other democrats that the measure did not provide sufficient funds. A republican said the government could not continue the present relief drain on the treasury and that the spending was preventing the normal return to business by industry. They were not registered as voting against the appropriation, however.

Amendment Blocked. The democratic leaders brought the measure up under procedure which prevented any action on amendments to increase the fund. There had been threats that such amendments would be offered.

Advocates of more money claimed that the $450,000,000 bill carried for civil works was too small and that it would be exhausted in about six weeks.

On the roll call that this group forced, 382 voted for the appropriation and only Terrell against.

The senate finance committee formally reported the measure favorably and Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, chairman, indicated it would be brought up for action tomorrow in view of the statement by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that funds available for civil works would be exhausted on Saturday.

No Requests Needed. The measure carries a provision to permit the federal relief administrator to make grants for relief within a state to a public agency without the consent of the governor.

Representative Oliver, democrat, Alabama, explained that the change was made to avoid situations where a governor might not receive it because the governor would not apply for it unless he had the right to control it.

It also contained a provision terminating the payment of compensation to persons killed or injured on the federal relief administration. The bill provided that $14,000,000 had been paid out under the federal compensation law.

In submitting the bill, Chairman Buchanan, democrat, Texas, explained that while $500,000,000 was allocated for direct relief, it was planned by the civil works administration to demobilize its workers with a view to having the labor absorbed by federal public works administration and industry.

Cold Bars Visitors For Chief Executive

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, suffering from a slight cold, cancelled appointments today to work on correspondence in the executive mansion proper.

He had no fewer than his physician, Dr. Ross T. McIntire, suggested that if he avoided his usual busy calling list, there was good opportunity to clear up of his correspondence.

Still behind in his correspondence after a week-end devoted to it, Mr. Roosevelt agreed.

He dressed and went to his study in the oval room to spend the day dictating to secretaries. With a smile he observed that he had an opportunity for the first time since entering the White House to get caught up on the heavy pile of correspondence and routine which has accumulated.

Atlanta's Motor Fatalities Are Leading Southern Cities

Atlanta's record of a high traffic accident death toll was upheld during 1933, it was revealed Monday in a report by the state highway department. The report showed that Atlanta led in this and seven other leading cities of the south, Atlanta leading with 2,407 per 10,000 population.

He drew and signed for the year were released through the Atlanta Motor Club, the official Atlanta motor club, showed January, 1934, deaths as five, compared to nine for January, 1933.

January, 1934, accidents and injuries in Atlanta led the same month of last year, however, as follows:

Accidents 241 272

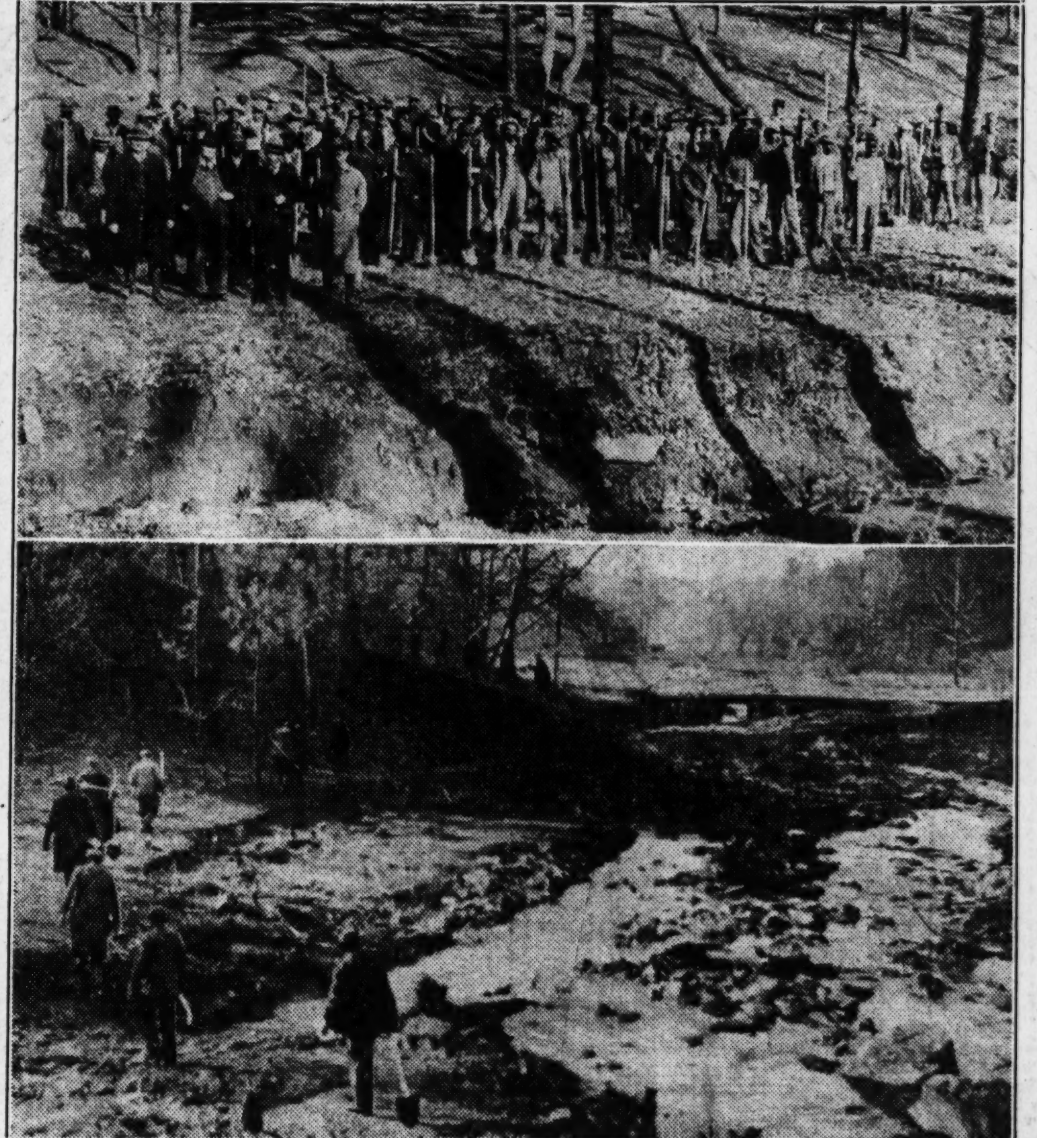

Injuries 100 118

While automobile deaths in 1933 were gaining nearly 9 per cent over 1932 figures in Atlanta, the increase over the nation was only 6 per cent, according to census bureau reports.

The census bureau reported that 1932 figures showed a decline of 13 per cent in deaths, a drop for the first time in history, but the Atlanta statistics show an increase from 59 for 1931 to 60 for 1932, although the figures dropped in 1933 from the previous high mark of 64 for 1930.

Work on Monday began the urgent and long-delayed task of modernizing the sewer system of metropolitan Atlanta, and thus were believed to have eliminated, at least temporarily, the threat that courts would order an abatement of the nuisance. Work on three of the five projects, approved by CWA at a cost of $1,018,000, was started Monday.

A total of 650 men began the work under the direction of CWA authorities. Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia CWA director, recognizing the urgency of immediate start, made the allocation in order to aid in eliminating sewage nuisances.

The start came Monday as Judge James C. Davis, of the Stone Mountain superior court circuit, prepared to hear Saturday a petition of about 35-property owners on Sugar and Inglewood creeks and South river, demanding that dumping of untreated sewage in the streams be stopped. The petition cites that such a procedure endangers the health of residents and that it is uncomfortable. In

AIR LINE OFFICIALS AGREE TO APPEAR FRIDAY IN CAPITOL

Brittin, Hanshue, Givvin and Former Cabinet Aid Face Possible Prison Sentences If Found Guilty of Charges.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Three clients of William P. MacCracken were ordered today to appear before the senate next Friday and show why they should not be held in contempt for taking air mail papers which a senate committee had subpoenaed.

The papers belonged to the clients, but they were in the files of MacCracken's law office and the committee had called for all the files of the former assistant secretary of commerce for study in its inquiry into air mail contracts let during the Hoover administration.

MacCracken, who was in charge of the aeronautics division of the commerce department, watched from the galleries as the senate demanded that his clients be brought before it. He was arrested Friday night to appear before the senate. After he had refused to turn his client's correspondence over to the committee, he allowed some of the papers which were described as personal to be taken from his files.

Three Others. The three others involved are L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways; Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, and Gilbert L. Givvin, Washington representative of the latter.

MacCracken released from arrest today upon his promise to appear Friday. The three others were notified by telephone, Chesley W. Murray, great-grandson of the late president, said he would not be arrested unless it was necessary if all agreed to come voluntarily.

Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, chairman of the investigating committee, told the senate today it could imprison for the duration of the current session any person it found guilty of contempt, or it could impose a fine within certain limits. As another alternative, he said, would be referring the case to the district attorney for charges of committing a misdemeanor.

Crowded galleries and a tense atmosphere greeted Black as he read a report of the examination of Brittin and Givvin.

Letters Destroyed. The report related that Brittin had told of destroying correspondence obtained from MacCracken's office and Givvin had returned a stack of letters and memorandums which he said

AUSTRIA APPEALS FOR PROTECTION

Fascists Seize Province as Geneva is Asked to Block Nazi Moves.

By the Associated Press. Little Austria was ready Monday to call upon the League of Nations for help in her tense relations with Germany.

The Austrian cabinet empowered Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss to appeal to the League regarding what it considers the infiltration of nazi terrorism and propaganda from the Reich.

Prince Von Starheimberg, leader of the fascist Heimwehr and a Dollfuss aid, put his men in office in the Tyrol and informed Dollfuss he would have the support of the home guard henceforth only if government by political parties is suppressed.

A variety of reactions followed the developments. Government quarters in Berlin said they were not surprised but reiterated the view that Austro-German differences concern only those two countries and are not a matter for international discussion.

In Geneva League circles admitted they were worried and expressed the opinion that the council would hear both sides of the argument, with the Insull, wanted in the United States on charges of fraud growing out of the collapse of his public utilities companies, had asked to be permitted to remain in Greece indefinitely, claiming that heart disease made it dangerous to his life for him to travel.

Two efforts to extradite him from Greece to the United States have failed, but another effort by Washington is possible if Insull leaves Greece.

VINSON PRESENTS COTTON MEASURE

Bill to Regulate Futures Trading Offered by Georgian.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, today introduced a bill for the regulation of "speculative and other futures trading in cotton."

"Under it," he said in a statement, "cotton futures trading could be carried on only on exchanges approved and designated by the secretary of agriculture, and the individual trading members would be under license."

"An exchange could be designated for trading purpose only on condition that its board of directors make adequate provisions for the making of detailed reports to the department of agriculture of trading operations by exchange members; for the prevention of the circulation by exchange members or their employees of false or misleading market information; for adequate margins in line with requirements to be set up by the secretary of agriculture; and for the establishment of a special committee expressly charged with necessary authority and with the responsibility of aiding the secretary of agriculture in making effective any necessary orders looking to the prevention of manipulation of prices and other abuses."

"For violations of the act the designation of any exchange as a future trading or contract market would be subject to suspension or revocation, and individual traders would be subject to suspension of trading privileges and to the suspension or revocation, and individual traders would be subject to suspension of trading privi-

COL. BENTEN ENTERS COUNTY 'FREE-FOR-ALL'

COLONEL F. W. BENTEN.

that he will not permit county employees to lobby against legislation designed to save taxpayers' money, Colonel F. W. Benteen, retired army officer, claiming to be the only "dirt farmer" in the race, Monday sought nomination as commissioner from the country districts subject to the March 7 primary.

Text of Benteen's announcement follows:

"To the people of Fulton county: I announce my candidacy for county commissioner from the country districts."

"The law provides that one of the commissioners must live in a country district and I believe it to have been the intention of the legislature that a farmer should hold one of the places on the board in order that the country might be represented. No other farmer having offered to the place, I am submitting my candidacy and am opposed by a lawyer, a manufacturer and an insurance man."

"I am a dirt farmer. I was born and am now living on 108 acres in South Bend district. This land has been occupied and owned by my family and myself for over 65 years."

"Our governor has recently reduced the state tax 20 per cent on real estate and I am going to vote, as a county commissioner, to reduce county taxes 20 per cent. This can be done without any lessening of services performed by the county for its citizens, by stopping the illegal expenditure of the tax funds."

"I am unalterably opposed to county officers placing their relatives on the county pay roll. Relatives of high county officials who are drawing large salaries for small services or as political sinecures should be removed from the pay roll."

"As a county commissioner I will not lobby before the legislature to defeat measures designed to save the taxpayers' money, nor will I allow county employees to do so."

"I am a major, retired, of the United States army, having served in the Spanish War, the Philippine insurrection and on the Mexican border. I was retired in 1916 and called back into service during the World War."

"I am opposed to any reduction in pay of any county employees getting $100 per month or less, but believe that economies should be effected in the higher brackets."

"More money should be allotted to the school system by the commissioners from funds derived from other lawful sources."

"I believe that the commissioners should give more weight to recommendations of the grand jury which point out ways for saving taxpayers' money."

"I shall not vote to pave private subdivisions with tax funds. The commission should grade and improve the dirt roads on which the farmers live so as to afford good secondary highways. We need to get out of debt and stop paying interest on borrowed money before doing any more paving work."

"Help me to give you a new deal in the spending of your money."

REGAINED APPETITE AND WEIGHT WITH
KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

If you are a sufferer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. McIntyre:

"For a long time my system was not in very good working order. But since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I have regained my appetite and my lost weight. And my system is in good working order. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sure does the trick."—Mr. J. A. McIntyre, 160 Ruscumb St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the "bulk" needed to relieve ordinary constipation. It also contains vitamin B and iron for the blood.

You'll enjoy this delicious and healthful ready-to-eat cereal. Serve it with milk or cream—or use often in cooking.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ORVILLE POWELL, 66, PASSES IN CHICAGO

Heart Attack is Fatal to Official of Pullman
Company.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Orville P. Powell, 66, assistant vice president and general manager of the Pullman Company, is dead of a heart attack. He was born in Ottawa, Ill., but resided in Chicago.

At the age of 20 he became a Pullman conductor at Jacksonville, Fla. He became general manager of the company in 1928.

Survivors include his widow, three daughters, a son, a brother, George, of Jacksonville, and a sister, Mrs. Marion P. Carson, of Deland, Fla.

DR. LUTHER CONWELL.
DOVER, Del., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Luther S. Conwell, one of the best known physicians in central Delaware, was found dead in his bed at his home in Camden today. He was about 75.

Dr. Conwell was a former member of the Delaware house of representatives and for several years was secretary and executive officer of the state board of health. He is survived by two brothers, Professor Charles S. Conwell, Camden, and William Conwell, Baltimore, and three sisters, Mrs. Ezekiel Cooper, Wilmington; Mrs. Jacob G. Brown and Mrs. L. W. Hollis, Camden.

PHIL H. ARMSTRONG.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Funeral services were held today for Phil H. Armstrong, who for 20 years wrote a daily editorial page column, "Florida Sunshine," in the Florida Times-Union.

Armstrong died yesterday after a brief illness.

Born at Scottsboro, Ala., in 1881, he started newspaper work on his father's weekly newspaper there while still in his teens.

Surviving are his widow, a son, Edwin Armstrong, and a brother living in Washington.

SIDNEY TRAYER.
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Sidney Trayer, 29, who came here last July from New York, was found dead in his gas-filled apartment late last night, apparently the victim of an accident.

A coffee pot had exploded, scattering its contents over the kitchen, and authorities expressed the belief Trayer had fallen asleep, and the exploding coffee pot put out the gas flame.

ANDREW HERRINGER.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Andrew L. Herringer, 73, retired Cincinnati attorney, died here yesterday after a brief illness. He was a widower. Mrs. Florence E. Herringer, survives.

HARRY McNULTY.
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Harry L. McNulty, 63, New York wholesale furniture dealer, died here today. A widow, Mrs. Mary B. McNulty, survives.

GENERAL RUDOLF VON HORN.
BERLIN, Feb. 5.—General Rudolf Von Horn, World War artillery commander and president of the veterans' society, Kyffhauser Bund, died today at the age of 67 after an operation.

REV. EUGENE EMMONS.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The Rev. Eugene Emmons, 90, superannuated Methodist minister of Pigott, Ark., died today at a hospital here.

Survivors include four children, Winfred Emmons, St. Louis; Arthur Emmons, Memphis; Mrs. Nettie Hinde, Hinde, Ohio; and Howard B. Emmons, Warren, Ohio.

J. R. BENFIELD.
KINGSFORD, Tenn., Feb. 5.—(AP)—J. R. Benfield, who was acquainted personally with Abraham Lincoln, is dead here at the age of 102 years. Mr. Benfield, a Civil War veteran, was with Grant's army when Lee surrendered.

He voted a straight republican ticket for 72 years and attributed his youth "to chewing tobacco and reading the Bible."

He died Sunday following a short illness.

HENRY WATTERSON EWING.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Word was received today of the death at Cocoa, Fla., of Henry Watterson Ewing, 67, president of the Law Bulletin Publishing Company. He was born at Nashville, Tenn., son of a Confederate army major who published a St. Louis newspaper. He was a nephew of the late Henry Watterson, noted editor.

DICK SUTHERLAND.
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dick Sutherland, 55, veteran character actor of the stage and screen, died unexpectedly Saturday at his home here of a heart attack, his widow, Mrs. Verba Sutherland, disclosed today.

DR. THOMAS A. JOHNSTON.
BOONVILLE, Mo., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Johnston, 85, banker, president of Kemper Military School of Boonville and a Confederate veteran, died at his home late today.

JEFFERSON CONNELL.
CLARKSDALE, Miss., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Jefferson Connell, 78, city commissioner in 1911 and 1912, died at his home here today. Mr. Connell retired from the mercantile business in 1923 after 30 years.

ASHBY ALBRITTON.
T. C. WHITAKER.
KINSTON, N. C., Feb. 5.—(UP)—Two former state legislators died in this section today.

Ashby Albritton, 64, died at Snow Hill and T. C. Whitaker, 79, died near Trenton.

VIRGINIA F. GERMANO.
TURIN, Italy, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Virginia Ferial Germano, a noted soprano who toured the United States more than 35 years ago, died here Sunday at the age of 84.

Man Runs Wild, Kills 1 And Slashes Another

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(AP)—One man was fatally stabbed and another slashed on the head today when an unidentified man ran amuck with a jack-knife in Radio Station KBJ.

Edwin Wolverton, 20, of Grand Junction, Colo., who was seeking work at the studio, died two hours later at the emergency hospital.

The other victim, Warren Fehlman, representative of the Dow-Jones financial news service, escaped with a superficial wound on the head.

Wolverton and Fehlman were attacked as they responded to the screams of Miss Grace Kane, a secretary, who had been threatened by the knife wielder.

Leaping upon Wolverton, the madman shouted:

"I'm going to kill you, you— I love to see people suffer. Get out of my path. I've got a job to do in there."

C. E. Wylie, general manager of the station, and six other men, leaped upon the assailant and overpowered him.

What 120 Millions Think

A Symposium of the American Reaction to the New Deal.

This is the third in a series of daily articles by Ralph W. Page, economist and writer, who has toured the country to discover what its people think of the national recovery program and is now putting his findings into writing.

By RALPH W. PAGE.
(Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Any idea I had that the United States was going socialist was hastily dispelled as I traveled over the country. I talked with labor leaders and workmen in the forests of the northwest, advertised as a warren of radicals, and failed to find a genuine socialist with any kick in him.

One poor devil in Spokane, vacillating between jail and the relief, was addressing an audience of 20 earnest women on the "coming revolution." He was intelligent and serious, with a high ideal and without any following, and should have been made professor of the under dog in some university.

In southern California they had just been shooting and jailing "communist" strikers and agitators. But California's definition of a communist, anarchist and enemy of government is any workman who would strike for more pay.

Cotton Pickers.
The strike conducted by cotton pickers. Some called themselves communists. What they asked was more than 60 cents a hundred for picking cotton. Even a negro can do this much, in Georgia, without offense. An impartial commission granted them 75 cents and the prisoners were released on constitutional grounds. A fair observer would conclude not that the strikers were public enemies, but that the employers were a feudal hang-over.

In the Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska region, headquarters of the farm strike, there is a strong tendency towards drastic state control of prices and credit. Governor Langer, of North Dakota, acting under the pressure of events and supported solidly by the population, issued a proclamation forbidding any sheriff to foreclose any mortgage, and dramatically giving his attorney-general a pistol, ordered him to see that the decree was carried out. He also placed an embargo on wheat and cattle, and campaigned the adjoining states, calling for combined action to fix the price of these commodities.

But all that, even including the state-owned bank for farm credit, does not have its roots in orthodox socialist doctrine. It is the last despairing effort of an exhausted and debt-ridden capitalist homesteader to save his holdings. It is what desperate men would have done all over the union if there had been no relief in sight. Their plight is peculiar. It is due more to the plagues of the drought and the grasshoppers, those ancient bane of the giants of the earth, than to the ramifications of depression.

These farmers are echoing a demand that hits the whole United States, for "fair" price and "fair" profit. This is no invention of President Roosevelt's or a brain trust of any other man or group of men. It originated in public discussions leading to commissions for regulating railroad and public utility rates, and in the campaign against profiteers during the war. In a purely capitalist state, under the laissez faire system, such a thing as a fair price is nonsense. Supply and demand would have controlled all prices and profits.

This revolution in thought had crystallized before the landslide of 1932. It was the recognized formula in hearings before the trade commission, in the arbitration of strikes, in sales campaigns and arguments over the anti-trust laws.

"Fairness" Asked.
During the last four years merchants, manufacturers and workmen have not contended for the privilege of unlimited profits, or of getting into a position to enforce exorbitant prices of wages. Factories pleaded with wholesalers to pay a "fair" price. Power companies asked a "reasonable" return on capital. Retailers elaborately explained to housewives that their charges were necessary. Mill hands based their requests upon the cost of living.

Now all this is the very essence and foundation of every man's reaction to the "new deal" and the business codes. Nobody seems to object to the principle that the other fellow is entitled to a profit, and there is little contention by any group that they are entitled to get all they can, regardless of others. Capitalism that leaves business free to make all the profit it can has already been modified by public opinion.

Deciding to give every factory, mine owner, distributor and farmer a "fair" profit, and every laborer a fair wage was one thing. Doing it was something else.

That this could be accomplished only by united action under governmental authority and supervision was universally accepted. I am aware there is a body of respectable authority that says it cannot be done, another that says it is ruinous, and still another that hates the idea and combats it with cries of "unconstitutional" and all manner of sabotage.

My effort was not to judge the merits of these contentions. I went out through the country to observe. And what I observed was that those actively opposing the general idea of a fair profit under regulation are in the minority. This opposition does not originate in the active productive personnel of the country. The struggle and complaints of the operators of America's myriad enterprises, of the traders and the unions and the tillers of the soil, are directed toward the details of their own immediate problems. Many of the objections are by men or organizations who have so far failed to get any profit, or who feel that the indicated division of return

Nazi Bishop Opens Door Sealed 410 Years Ago

MAGDEBURG, Germany, Feb. 5.—(AP)—His rusty hinges squeaking mightily, the bishop's door of the famous Cathedral of St. Maurice and Saint Catherine was opened for the first time in 410 years today.

It swung wide to admit the new Nazi bishop of the province of Saxony, the Rt. Rev. Friedrich Peter, for his consecration by Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller.

The massive door was sealed when the powerful bishopric went Protestant.

In his sermon, Bishop Peter said: "Millions of Germans have regained their faith through the miracle of national regeneration wrought by Chancellor Hitler. Hundreds of thousands have returned to the church."

is not fair to them. They want it regulated, but regulated differently. The concentrated opposition comes from an entirely different class—people who never accepted the idea of a fair profit, and many of whom never heard of such a thing. It comes from the great banking and underwriting world, from the financial centers that until recently governed American industry.

"The Enemy."
The reason is obvious and understandable. A "fair" profit is not granted them. They are not in the picture at all. They are the "enemy." While everybody else is encouraged to get off in a corner and rig up a scheme to insure prosperity to his business, if he can, the great money salesmen and amalgamators receive what they believe to be a straight jacket in the form of a securities act, telling them briefly to hang their clothes on a hickory limb but not to go near the watered stock.

Everybody else and his brother go to Washington for the express purpose of sharing in the general distribution, or to learn from a benevolent headquarters how best to increase their income. But if the financier, accustomed to unlimited income, goes down to reconstitute even mildly, he is invited to the witness stand and asked leading questions about his income taxes or his Cuban bond issues. A cleavage in enthusiasm is inevitable.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

NEW DATA.
Those of you who have been writing in from time to time to get information on how to establish small ponds inexpensively will welcome as I did the appearance of another bulletin from More Game Birds in America. It is called "Water Areas, How to Create and Maintain Them."

If you are looking for inexpensive methods of building a nice pond on your place, you will find adequate directions in this booklet. It tells how to guard against flood waters, how to provide catch basins, how to prevent excessive seepage, and many other factors in the actual construction of small ponds. Cross-sections of various types of earthen dams are given, with full directions as to the kinds of materials to use.

I can imagine no more concise set of directions for the building of ponds. Of course, the methods set forth cannot be used for large lakes. They are designed for improving the waterfowl areas in the regions where excessive drainage operations have destroyed the normal resting grounds and breeding grounds of ducks. The same pond will often serve for fish pools or other ornamental uses on the country place.

If, however, you are primarily interested in attracting waterfowl, the foundation is again ready to aid you. It has a companion bulletin called "Waterfowl Food Plants" that tells everything you should know about the kind of foods to plant for attracting various species of ducks. It gives planting tables of the various species

Motive for Slaying Of Pastor Is Sought

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Preliminary court hearing for four persons held here in connection with the ten-dollar murder of the Rev. Gaylord V. Saunders was postponed today until Thursday at the request of police working on the case.

With confessions before them from Mrs. Neoma Saunders, the 35-year-old widow, that she plotted the murder, and from Theodore Mathers, 19, that he shot the minister to death, the authorities groped for motives.

They were not satisfied with Mrs. Saunders' statement that she believed her husband of unsound mind and plotted his death in defense of herself and her two children. Additional information also was wanted concerning the unusual relationship between the husband and wife and the youth.

Two Aged Women Slain in Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Two aged women were found murdered at a residence in the Springfield section of the city today.

One apparently had been shot and beaten to death and the other was found lying on a bed a knife thrust through her body and a bloody ax nearby.

They were identified as Mrs. R. E. Green and Mrs. May Ray Anderson. Both were in the neighborhood of 75 years old, the police said.

Peril in Asia Is 'Stupendous,' Asserts Upton Close at Athens

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 5.—Upton Close told an overflow audience in the chapel of the University of Georgia today that the peril in Asia is immediate and stupendous, and that America must choose which way she will go.

The United States can abandon her time-honored policy in the Pacific, leave China to her fate, withdraw her claims that Japan live up to her treaties, and leave Japan to become the greatest power in the world, he said. Or the United States will have to prevent Japan from building the empire that is already planned.

"In Asia today there is a renaissance similar to that which occurred in Europe, and from Japan to Turkey a new chain of nations is built," Mr. Close said. Japan is to the Pacific basin what England was to the Atlantic.

"Nothing that happens on the old

Help Your Kidneys Don't Take Drastic Drugs

You have 9 million tiny tubes or filters in your kidneys, which are at work night and day cleaning out acids and poisonous wastes and purifying your blood, which circulates through your kidneys 200 times an hour. So it's no wonder that poorly functioning kidneys may be the real cause of feeling tired, run-down, nervous, getting up nights, Rheumatic Pains and other troubles.

Nearly everyone is likely to suffer from poorly functioning kidneys at times because modern foods and drinks, weather changes, exposure, colds, nervous strain, worry and over-work often place an extra heavy load on the kidneys.

But when your kidneys need help, don't take chances with drastic or irritating drugs. Be careful. If poorly functioning kidneys or bladder make you suffer from Getting Up Nights, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Stiffness, Burning, Smarting, Itching, Acidity, Rheumatic Pains, Lumbago, Loss of Vitality, Dark Circles under the eyes, or Dizziness, don't waste a minute. Try the Doctor's prescription Cystex (pronounced Ciss-tex). See for yourself the amazing quickness with which it soothes, tones and cleanses raw, sore, irritated membranes.

Cystex is a remarkably successful prescription for poorly functioning kidneys and bladder. It is helping millions of sufferers, and many say that in just a day or so it helped them sleep like a baby, brought new strength and energy, eased rheumatic pains and stiffness—made them feel years younger. Cystex starts circulating through the system in 15 minutes, helping the kidneys in their work of cleaning out the blood and removing poisonous acids and wastes in the system. It does its work quickly and positively but does not contain any drugs, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. The formula is in every package.

Because of its amazing and almost world-wide success, the Doctor's Prescription known as Cystex (pronounced Ciss-tex) is offered to sufferers of poor kidney and bladder functions under the fairplay guarantee to fix you up to your complete satisfaction or money back on return of empty package. It's only the best dose. Ask your druggist for Cystex today and see for yourself how much younger, stronger, and better you can feel by simply cleaning out your kidneys. Cystex must do the work or cost you nothing.

City Health Doctor Praises Cystex

Doctors and druggists everywhere approve of the prescription Cystex because of its splendid ingredients and quick action. For instance, Dr. W. R. George, graduate Medical Dept., University of Indiana, former Health Commissioner of Indiana, and Medical Director for Insurance Company 10 years, recently wrote the following letter:

"There is little question but that properly functioning kidneys and bladder organs are vital to the health. Inefficient kidneys exertions are the cause of much needless suffering with aching back, weak, Dr. W. R. George, M. D.

Scientists Will Inspect Macon Indian Mounds

MACON, Ga., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Scientists from all sections of the country will be invited here to inspect Indian mounds in this section during the week of February 25-March 3.

During that period the Society for Georgia Archaeology will hold its first meeting since its organization last year. Dr. C. C. Harrold, president of the society, announced.

Dr. Harrold said the following already have indicated they will come: Dr. John R. Swanton, of the Smithsonian Institution, an authority on the history and tradition of the Creek Indians; Dr. Walter B. Jones, Alabama state geologist and curator of the State Museum at Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Richard W. Smith, Georgia state geologist; Dr. A. V. Henry, head of the ceramics department at Georgia Tech.

Atlantic front will greatly affect our lives any more. We are through with Europe. Europe is a senile old man with too much past and no future. Our front door is on the Pacific and it is the front door of the whole world. The two races after circling the globe have met now to face one another."

Mr. Close said Japan was a rising empire and that America was rapidly becoming a static commonwealth. Russia is in the picture also, since it wasn't for the United States, Japan would settle Russia quickly.

"We recognized Russia," he declared, "when we realized that Russia was about to temporize with Japan. We kept Russia in the picture."

When Japan was forced, through Admiral Perry's entry into one of her harbors, to adopt the open door policy, she quickly seized up the source of power in the western nations, according to Mr. Close, and prepared herself in the three essentials: Militarism (her navy is the best fighting navy in the world today); quantity production (she is a leading industrial nation); and universal education (she has a higher literacy than the United States).

Her population today is between 60,000,000 and 70,000,000 and steadily on the increase. By 1946 it is figured that there will be as many Japanese as Americans.

Mr. Close told of the written agreement on the part of England, France and Italy that Japan could keep the Chinese province she captured during the World War if she continued to side with the allies. Such an agreement was unknown to President Wilson and at Versailles blocked his desire that China regain the province. That Wilson did not upon learning of it leave the peace table and come home Close considers a mistake. "A temple of idealism cannot be built on the quicksands of double-dealing and hypocrisy," he said.

Close scored the pacifists of the country who write letters to congressmen asking that the country be kept out of war.

Close's real name is Josef Washington Hall. He was a secret investigator for Woodrow Wilson in the east during the World War and is widely known as a writer and lecturer.

GEORGIA KIWANIS WILL GATHER TODAY

Fifty Clubs Expected To Be Represented at Mid-Winter Meeting.

THOMASTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Georgia Kiwanians will come here tomorrow for their mid-winter conference. Fifty clubs in the state are expected to be represented.

Mark Smith, of Thomaston, district governor for Georgia, will preside at the meeting. Harold Hippler, of Euclid, Fla., trustee of Kiwanis International, will speak and act as general adviser in the discussions.

The president and secretary of each Georgia club, committee chairmen and district trustees, together with other leading Kiwanians have been invited. Dave M. Parker and Tom O. Marshall, past Kiwanis governors for Georgia; Henry Heinz, past international president, and Faber Bollinger, international inter-club chairman are among the prominent members expected to attend.

The body will be sent to Thomaston for burial.

Savannah Votes Down $1,000,000 Bond Issue

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The city government has decided against indorsing a million-dollar bond issue for construction of municipal terminals and other marketing facilities on the river front.

A resolution to this effect was adopted at a special meeting of aldermen after presentation of a report by Mayor Thomas Gamble on the conditions under which the public works administration would finance the project.

The project called for expenditure of $2,500,000, of which $800,000 was asked for as a grant and $2,000,000 as a loan secured by income bonds.

HARGRAVE IS NAMED RED AND BLACK EDITOR

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 5.—(AP)—A Russell Hargrave, son of W. D. Hargrave, business manager of the Thomaston Times Enterprise, has been named editor of the Red and Black, University of Georgia campus weekly.

He succeeds W. B. Williams, whose term expired with last week's issue of the paper. Hargrave was succeeded as managing editor by William L. Ray, of Johnson City. Tenie Mary Louise Hill, Columbus, succeeded Elizabeth Camp, Atlanta, as woman's editor.

Tom A. Dozier, Athens; William L. Waddell, Albany, and Maurice S. Bernadik, Cedarhurst, L. I., were named associate editors.

Strengthening of Peace Machinery Advocated in Lecture by Stewart

Elimination of the "basic causes of war" and the strengthening of the machinery of peace was advocated by Dr. Maxwell S. Stewart, of the research staff of the foreign policy association, in the fifth of a series of lectures given Monday night at Wesley Memorial auditorium under auspices of the League for Industrial Democracy.

Talking on the subject of "Dictatorships and Revolutions in Europe," Dr. Stewart, who is a noted authority on international economics and politics, traced the growth of fascism in Italy and Germany, the trend in Russia and the problems that face the nations of the world.

Leading the progress Russia has made during the last several months, Dr. Stewart said "the soviet's great agricultural progress has not been an accident." He pointed out that in 1932 the Russian people had twice as many farming implements as they had in 1931 and that in 1933 they had more than twice the number of farm tractors they had in 1932.

Dr. Stewart amended his remarks about Russia with the statement that "no one should expect to find Utopia there—but it is apparent that within the next five years—certainly in 15 years—the working man and woman of Russia will be fully compensated for the privations of the last few years."

Tracing the spread of fascism through the world and denying that there is any definite "fascist party" in America today, Dr. Stewart said "fascism is strictly the will of a group of disillusioned people to rule. The

MURDERER OF NEGRO DECLARED INSANE

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Perry Eugene Rearden, who was quoted by officers as saying the "spirits" had told him to kill Ed Murray, negro, was found by a jury in superior court today to be insane and ordered sent to the state hospital at Milledgeville.

Rearden entered a special plea of insanity to a charge of murder, and several witnesses testified that Rearden received a blow on the head while serving with the United States marine in Haiti. Murray was killed early in January.

everything else is free!

LIKE a lot of big news these days, this has a Washington date line, too. It's an Endurance Run, officially conducted by the American Automobile Association in the Nation's Capital.

In 5,000 miles continuous driving through traffic, AMOCO-GAS, in a new stock V-8 Ford, gave 22½ miles to the gallon—20% more than the Ford factory considers good mileage with regular gasoline. AMOCO-GAS does not cost the motorist that much more over regular gasoline.

So on mileage alone, you don't save a cent when you buy "regular"! The added mileage from AMOCO-GAS puts it on a lower cost footing. All these other exclusive AMOCO features are free!

- (1) Complete "anti-knock" performance.
- (2) Greatly decreased carbonization—and far fewer repair bills.
- (3) Infinitely more power—and smoother motor performance.
- (4) Quicker pick-up—no "choking" on the get-away.

- (5) Far fewer gear shifts—you can loaf along in traffic in high.
- (6) Instant starting—no running down the battery; no flooding the carburetor.
- (7) Cool motor—always.
- (8) Greater, more luxurious riding and driving ease.

For these many comforts and economies you pay absolutely nothing. Everything but the mileage is free!

Automatic GAS WATER HEATERS for RENT at $1 a Month

RENT FOR THE SMALL MONTHLY SUM of $1.00

FOR A SMALL monthly rental of ONE DOLLAR you may now have the use of an automatic gas water heater, insuring a plentiful supply of steaming hot water in your home at all times. And if you keep it until the rent you have paid amounts to its purchase price, the heater is yours without further obligation. Under this plan every home should enjoy the luxury—which is likewise a healthful necessity—of constant hot water service.

NEW CONSTITUTION IN FORCE IN CUBA

Mendieta Takes Oath; Disorders Subside as Mediation Continues.

HAVANA, Feb. 5.—(P)—President Carlos Mendieta turned his back on strike troubles long enough today to swear before the supreme court to uphold the new constitution, designed to correct political abuses, and it was then declared in force.

Following this ceremony, Mendieta gave the oath pledging allegiance to the constitution to the cabinet and to Miguel Gomez, mayor of Havana. Meanwhile, striking workers of the Cuban Electric Company planned to assemble to decide whether to accept a new arbitration proposal, which company officials termed final.

The company agreed to accept workers' demands and dismiss all non-union employees, including 68 American technicians and accountants. It insisted, however, that Federico Porro Orfila would be retained as manager, despite strikers' objections.

Terminating service throughout the island virtually normal, a company spokesman said "if the strikers refuse the proposal, we will not grant any demands and will prepare to fight." A new strike was threatened when workers of the Cuban Telephone Company said they would walk out unless demands by them were granted within 48 hours. The company is American-owned.

Sabotage continued at Mantanzas, with strikers destroying lines and posts as fast as soldiers could reconstruct them.

Officials of the Cuba North Railway began a conference with strikers at Camaguey, as a virtually general strike was inaugurated at Santiago.

Five bombs exploded in Havana last night, two of them at the houses of Mayor Gomez and Secretary of Sanitation Verdja. Damage was slight.

The new constitution will remain in force until a permanent one is drafted by the constitutional assembly, expected to meet within a year.

Omnibus Strike Ends.
In Havana, proprietors of several omnibus lines whose drivers and conductors quit last week for unexplained reasons announced the strike had been terminated, but only one line resumed operations. It was learned the others continued idle as a result of dissension among lines as to franchises and routes.

A virtually island-wide strike of employees of the tobacco industry, involving some 150,000 workers, was still in effect, with efforts of mediators apparently getting nowhere despite the disposition of several growers' unions to return to work.

Stevadores here tonight called a strike for 6 a. m. Tuesday in sympathy with the Cuban Electric Company and tobacco strikers.

The labor confederation sent a referendum to affiliates to call a 24-hour general walkout starting at the same time.

The cabinet went into session at 7:30 p. m. to discuss, it was learned, the possibility of suspending constitutional guarantees.

Admitting the possibility of negotiations for a cash loan from the United States, Dr. Joaquin Martinez Saez, secretary of the treasury, declared the government was not accepting an American offer of $8,000,000 in foodstuffs.

He gave no reason, but it was learned that the importers' association opposed the plan on the grounds that the amount plus custom duties and retailers' profits would approximately double the value of the food, thus "paralyzing the island's import trade for at least six months."

PARALYSIS CLINIC WILL BE CONTINUED

Following an announcement in The Constitution of the opening of a free clinic for infantile paralysis cases which several victims have attended, Barron's Health Clinic, at 28 Peachtree Avenue, will continue this free diagnosis and relief through the month of February.

Testimonials to relief and assistance to sufferers of infantile paralysis resulted in Barron's Health Clinic starting this free clinic between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m. Since this has been a success, Dr. Barron has decided on continuing this clinic for another three weeks, in order that additional cases may receive benefit of this treatment.

Can't Eat Can't Sleep Can't Work

A Sign You're Runtown!

When your appetite has fled and you're so tired and nervous you can't even work, much less sleep, it's a sign you're runtown. It may be due to overwork, worry or sickness, but whatever it is, your condition calls for a good tonic. There is nothing better than Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic, for it is iron and tasteless quinine combined. Iron, as you know, is a noted blood builder, while quinine tends to purify the blood. Thus you get two effects of vital importance in any runtown condition.

Old and young find new appetite, new strength and energy in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Try it for just three days and see the difference it makes in you. You feel like a new person. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is pleasant to take and causes absolutely nothing harmful. Get a bottle today at any store.

Youth Injured in Fatal Crash Remains in Critical Condition

Otto J. Sala (left), killed in an automobile crash Sunday morning, and George W. Forrester, who was critically injured.

George W. Forrester, of 904 Peachtree street, who was injured Sunday when an automobile skidded on a wet place on Peachtree road and collided with a pole, killing Otto J. Sala Jr., 24, of 51 Woodcrest avenue, N. W., Monday remained in a serious condition at Grady hospital as arrangements were completed for Sala's funeral today.

Funeral services for Sala, who was popular in Atlanta's younger social set, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Sala was the son of the fiscal agent of the Interstate Bond Company. Forrester is the son of Mrs. George Forrester and a nephew of Mrs. Alonzo Richardson. The accident happened in front of the home of John K. Otley Sr., the road having been made slippery by water from a fire plug which was knocked over in an other accident an hour previously.

Pauline Sheffield, negro, of 182 Louise alley, was in a serious condition at Grady hospital after being struck at Pryor and Mitchell streets Monday morning by a truck driven by Herman Carver, of College Park, according to police reports.

John Farrell, 21, of 1760 South Gordon street, Monday received a fracture of the hip and internal injuries when a motorcycle he was riding slipped under him at Alabama and Whitehall streets and fell on him. Farrell was brought to Grady hospital for treatment.

The midwinter meeting in 1935 of the National Association of Insurance Agents has been asked for by Augusta, according to an announcement made here Monday at the midwinter meeting of the Georgia association attended by the officers and executive committee.

The annual state convention will be held at Sea Island next June, the definite date to be fixed later. The pending insurance code was endorsed by the officers and committee.

Bill To Aid Cattle Men Is Passed in House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(P)—The house today passed the Jones bill making beef and dairy cattle a basic commodity under the agriculture adjustment act, and authorizing $200,000,000 for payments to producers.

The measure, which now goes to the senate, was passed under suspension of rules, which prevented the offering of amendments. Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the agriculture committee, who sponsored the measure, explained that while the $200,000,000 would come from the treasury now, a processing tax would be devised by the secretary of agriculture.

LANIER'S BIRTHDAY TO BE CELEBRATED

Mrs. Emma Garrett Morris will lecture in Rich's bookshop this morning at 10 o'clock on Sidney Lanier, southern poet.

The program will be featured by the singing of several Lanier songs by L. D. Scott, of Washington Seminary, accompanied by Mrs. Scott. He will sing "Sunset," music by Dudley Buck; "Thou and I," music by Clara Palmer, and "The Master and the Trees," by Cadman.

Sidney Lanier was born in Macon, Ga., on February 3, 1842, and this program is planned to commemorate his birthday. He spent many months in New York, Baltimore, North Carolina and Florida, seeking a place where his health would improve, but Georgia was his home. While in Baltimore he played with the Peabody Symphony orchestra, for he was devoted to music and an accomplished musician. Later he lectured on English literature at Johns Hopkins University. But his greatest fame came to him as a poet.

REV. M. L. UNDERWOOD MARKS 85TH BIRTHDAY

Rev. M. L. Underwood, of 1218 Springdale road, one of the oldest and most widely known members of the North Georgia Methodist conference, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Monday. He was guest at a luncheon given by his son, Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the federal court, and Mrs. Underwood, at their residence, 21 Avery drive.

Present to felicitate Mr. Underwood on his anniversary were members of his family and former associates in the church. He received many messages and greetings during the day.

Born in Franklin county, Mr. Underwood attended the Belmont Academy, and, after graduation, entered the North Georgia conference. At one time presiding elder of the Elberton and Gainesville districts, he also held pastorates in Atlanta, Millersville and Gainesville.

One of his most conspicuous services was the building of the present Underwood Memorial church, on Howell Mill road, of which he was pastor and which was named for him. He still enjoys good health, and takes an active interest in affairs.

The Vogue in Eyeglasses

The influence of fashion is expressed in eyeglasses same as in hats. There are styles for day and evening wear, business and sport wear—for every activity a style preference.

Ever notice how it alters one's facial expression, changing eyes? Indeed it does make a difference! It's easy, for example, to appear younger or older by adopting a suitable style.

FLORIDA PLANS TO WAR ON USE OF $3 LICENSES

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 5.—(UP)—George H. Wilder, acting motor vehicle commissioner, said today that after February 15 Florida will insist that every driver of an automobile, with a Georgia license tag seen constantly in this state prove that he is a bona fide resident of Georgia.

Wilder's statement was based on the belief that many Floridians are taking advantage of Georgia's bargain price of $3 for automobile tags to buy their licenses there.

Graduates To Meet.

Graduates and former students of Morehouse College will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the assembly room of the new Atlanta University administration building to formulate plans for the celebration of the college founders' day.

ELEVEN ABSOLVED IN BREMER CASE

Group, Jailed With $4,000 Cash, Are Grilled by St. Paul Police.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 5.—(P)—Eleven men, arrested at Owatonna, Minn., tonight as suspects in the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, were absolved of any connection with the abduction by Chief of Police Thomas Dahill after a lengthy grilling.

Five of the band, seized with $4,000 cash and an automatic pistol in their possession at an Owatonna apartment house were brought here by St. Paul police. The other six were to be taken here later tonight, Chief Dahill said, and would be questioned about a recent series of bank robberies and liquor law violations, particularly the $38,584 theft of 5,521 gallons of denatured alcohol from the La Salle Products Company here yesterday.

Suspicion was aroused by the comings and goings of the men at the apartment house where they had been since January 20, Owatonna authorities said. Bremer was kidnapped January 17.

The raid followed with the seizure of the five first and the remaining six later.

The five in custody here are Archie Bell, 39, Blooming Prairie; George J. Overton, Blooming Prairie; Louis Meyers, 38, Pipestone; Jack Dahlin, 22, Gall, Iowa; and Jose Vallee, 35, address not disclosed.

Meanwhile, the Bremer family professed to have heard no word from the gang, continuing their anxious wait for news of the kidnapped man.

the status of the other thousands of pending cases.

Pointing out that the twenty-first amendment was ratified on December 5, 1933, the court said that "upon the ratification of the twenty-first amendment, the eighteenth amendment at once became inoperative."

"Neither the congress nor the courts could give it continued vitality," the decision added, explaining that "the national prohibition act to the extent that its provisions rested upon the grant of authority to the congress by the eighteenth amendment, immediately fell with the withdrawal by the people of the essential constitutional support."

The continuance of the prosecution of the defendants after the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, for a violation of the national prohibition act, alleged to have been committed in North Carolina, would involve an attempt to continue the application of the statutory provisions after they had been deprived of force.

"This consequence is not altered by the fact that the crimes in question were alleged to have been committed while the national prohibition act was in effect. The continued prosecution necessarily depended upon the continued life of the statute which the prosecution seeks to apply. In case a statute is repealed or rendered inoperative, no further proceedings can be had to enforce it in pending prosecutions unless competent authority has kept the statute alive for that purpose."

The supreme court Monday held the federal trade commission had authority to prevent manufacturers from selling candy under a practice which determined the price of each piece by chance.

It also held the commission could prohibit manufacturers from offering candy under inducement of chance to obtain free prizes such as lead pencils, penholders and rulers.

The decision of the court was made to protect children from what it denounced as a gambling habit.

BUS DRIVERS IN N. Y. THREATEN TO STRIKE

New Complications Appear as Taxi Controversy Remains Unsettled.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(P)—Threats of a strike by Fifth avenue bus drivers added a new complication tonight to New York's transportation problems, already tangled by a taxicab strike.

Drivers of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company were reported preparing to hold a mass meeting in protest against the asserted dismissal of several members of their association. They also were represented as considering a general demand for increased pay and shorter hours.

Meanwhile the four-day deadlock between taxicab drivers and their employers, which Mayor LaGuardia's mediator had believed near solution last night, continued unbroken.

A possible renewal of the street fights that marked the early stages of the strike was foreseen tonight when the independent drivers, who own and operate their own cabs, served notice that they would return to work tomorrow morning.

It was reported that the strikers, who are higher rates than carried in the leases canceled by bankruptcy.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO RECONSIDER DECISION

The supreme court refused Monday to reconsider its recent 5-to-4 decision sustaining the validity of the Minnesota mortgage moratorium act which upheld the right of the government to suspend the provisions of a contract in an emergency.

The Mississippi law upheld on construction bondsman contracts liable for material and labor furnished by the state, was sustained today by the supreme court.

The opinion was given in a case brought by the Hartford Accident & Surety company.

The supreme court decided Monday that the salary of retired federal judges cannot be cut by congress.

The ruling was given in cases brought by Circuit Judge Wilbur F. Booth, of Minneapolis, and Federal Judge Charles F. Amidon of North Dakota.

HUEY LONG URGES 7-POINT PROGRAM TO SPREAD WEALTH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(P)—A statement urging every community in the land to form an organization to support a seven-point platform looking to redistribution of wealth was placed in the Congressional Record today by Senator Long, democrat, Louisiana.

Headed "Carry Out the Command of the Lord," the statement proposed formation of "share our wealth" societies with the motto "every man a king," and to work for the following:

1. Limit poverty by providing that every deserving family shall share in the wealth of America and possess not less than $5,000 free of debt.
2. Limit fortunes to a few million dollars such as will allow the balance of the people to share in the wealth and profits of the land.
3. Old age pensions of $30 a month for persons over 60 who earn under $10,000 a year and who possess under $10,000 cash and property.
4. Balance agricultural production with what can be sold and consumed "according to the laws of God, which never have failed."
5. Care for veterans of all wars.
6. Limit hours of work to prevent over-production and give workers a share in recreations, conveniences and luxuries of life.
7. Taxation to run the government, to be supported first by reducing big fortunes from the top; providing employment in public works wherever the agricultural surplus is such as to render unnecessary in whole or in part any particular crop.

MUCH IMPROVED SHOW IS OFFERED ON CAPITOL STAGE

The stage show at the Capitol theater shows a steady improvement, week after week. Which is just another way of saying that the flesh and blood stars of the Capitol show this week is the best seen there since the adoption of the stage-screen policy.

It is titled a "Fun Revue." It presents a stage band of the hot variety, with a series of clever vaudeville acts spaced by fast and rhythmic dancing by half a dozen comely girls. Climaxed by a fan dancer who is, undoubtedly, the best example of this modern type of entertainment.

There is one act on the bill, however, to which special attention must be drawn. A boy, looking not over 13 years of age, does stunts in hand-walking, tumbling, etc., that haven't been seen here before regardless of the performer's age. His head balancing is particularly impressive while that of hand-walking on stilts is a honey.

Also don't miss the girl who impersonates Zasu Pitts. She also does the better of the two. The Pits is on the screen the Capitol presents for the first half of the week a picture with the somewhat cumbersome title, "Eight Girls in a Boat." It is about a girl's summer camp, with an eight-oar shell crew and everything. Carefully protected from the outside masculine world, the girl slips through the barriers, thereby providing a plot for the picture.

It ends happily when the boy in the case arrives, much to the disappointment of matrimony. Just as the entire camp was planning group adoption of the pending blessed event.

A good show both on stage and screen, if you don't like it a lot you're just too hard to please. Starting Thursday the Capitol offers Zane Grey's "Last Round-Up" and the performance on stage promises a complete change of program likewise.

COLORFUL STAGING, SNOOKY WOODS, HITS AT ATLANTA

The closing number of the first act of "Stoppin' High," now burlesque at the Atlanta this week, is the finest piece of staging the producers have done yet. addition, it recites that those living along the banks of those streams are entitled to have a clear and unpolluted flow.

William A. Hansell, chief of construction, asserted that the work begun Monday, if continued to completion, would do much to abate nuisances in every section surrounding the metropolitan district. He said, however, that the five projects approved by CVA and amounting to $1,018,000, on which work was begun Monday, will not give permanent relief, but will do much to give impetus to the entire modernization program. It is estimated that the complete modernization will cost about $8,000,000, including disposal units.

Distribution of the men on the sewer work was as follows: Two hundred and fifty on the McDaniel trunk sewer, 200 on Peachtree creek and 200 on Sugar creek. It was pointed out that work has been begun on two projects about which complaint was filed by DeKalb county superior courts and in which injunctions were sought, and that it will be consummated at the earliest possible moment.

City Attorney James L. Mayson and his aides plan Saturday to tell the court that work has been started on the streams from which the complainants sought relief, and that the city, Fulton and DeKalb counties and Decatur plan to correct the abuses as soon as possible.

Legal authorities, however, Monday warned that Atlanta and other governments could not hope to avert further legal complications if they failed to make ample provision for sewage disposal, or if they failed to prosecute trunk lines to uninterrupted completion.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

THE Chief Usher, who stayed on in the White House while nine Presidents came and went, left for the American people through The Saturday Evening Post a priceless record—the human side of history in the making.

Leaving policies and politics to others, he saw Presidents and their wives from Harrison to Hoover as men and women, strangely contrasted, but all flesh and blood.

His office, open twenty-four hours of the day, was the nerve center of the most famous house in America. DAY BY DAY HE LIVED THE UNWRITTEN HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES—AND KEPT NOTES! He did not feel free to tell his story while still on duty at the White House.

This series begins with two introductory articles, the first of which appears in this week's Post. The second will appear next week—to be followed by his inside story and first-hand picture of the White House as a home, from 1891 until 1933. Don't miss the first article—"Who's Who and Why in the White House!"

WINSHIP ASSUMES POST AT SAN JUAN

Georgian Takes Oath as New Governor of Puerto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Major General Blanton Winship, U. S. A., retired, today became the twelfth American civil governor of Puerto Rico.

He took the oath of office, succeeding Robert H. Gore, resigned, in a simple, semi-military ceremony. Although he arrived early today from New York, the general, who is a native of Macon, Ga., did not leave his ship until he started for the capital to receive the oath from Chief Justice Emilio Del Toro.

In his inaugural message Governor Winship said the outstanding problem was of "enhancing the returns from insular agriculture so as to insure a better standard of living for all of the great majority of our people who are necessarily dependent upon that activity for the livelihood."

President Roosevelt, he said, "asked me to tell you that he is coming to Puerto Rico to visit you."

When Winship left the ship he received military honors from the 65th infantry, 13 guns for major general and four guns to make 17 for governor.

The city had a striking holiday appearance. A brilliant sun struck flags and colored banners hanging from public buildings and decorating the streets as the major general rode to the capitol with acting Governor Benjamin J. Horton at his side.

were similarly obtained on Hanahue's orders.

Nearly every senator was at his desk during the proceedings. On the front row of a private gallery, MacCracken sat beside his attorney, Frank J. Hogan, who had been preparing the senate for the resolution of Senator McCarran, democrat, Nevada, which carried the contempt citation. Hogan took frequent notes.

Black told reporters Frederick P. Lee, MacCracken's law partner, was not cited because of insufficient evidence against him. Brittin had testified before the committee that Lee, who was named in the committee report today, "did not protest" when he removed the letters.

Discussed "Dividing Up." Black said evidence presented the committee showed that air mail operators met in 1930 in a room next to the office of then Postmaster-General Brown and discussed the "dividing up" of air mail routes and contracts. Contracts let by Brown following the conference, Black said, were awarded "collusively and fraudulently," and stand upon a rotten foundation. MacCracken, he said, was chairman of the meeting and had addressed the operators. Black added, he left them to work out the distribution of routes among themselves.

Federal statutes, Black said, invalidated contracts granted as the result of "collusion to avoid competitive bidding," and disqualified the person obtaining the contract from bidding on another for a period of five years. Black asserted Brown at the time the meeting was held was a stockholder in the Pennsylvania railroad, which had an interest in the routes.

The committee felt, he said, that this constituted a violation of the law prohibiting any officer or agent of any corporation interested in the profits of the corporation from transacting business in which the corporation was interested while employed by the government.

All Said "Vital." Considerable discussion ensued as to the nature of the correspondence which had been removed and the testimony concerning it.

Black said there was no way for the committee to ascertain what papers Brittin had destroyed or whether Givvin had returned all he took from the files. All those returned were "vital" to the mail contract inquiry, Black added.

He charged that one of the returned letters showed that Brown was compelling an air line to merge with another, and that the former postmaster-general "even went to the extent of appraising the value of the properties."

Journey late today cited MacCracken, Brittin and Givvin to appear before the senate Friday.

After talking with the three men by telephone, he said they all agreed to appear.

Hanahue, president of Western Air Express, the fourth man cited, had not been reached and Journey said was trying to serve the citation. Hanahue, he said, was in New York.

TAXES ON DIVIDENDS AND STOCKS RULED OUT

The Georgia court of appeals ruled Monday that the state cannot levy taxes on capital stocks of national banks when taxes are levied on the dividends from the stock. The case was that of Frank Hawkins, former chairman of the Citizens & Southern National bank, of Atlanta, against the state revenue commission. The court held that the federal government gave the state the option of taxing either the stocks or the dividends and that Georgia levied against the stocks, could not also levy against the dividends.

The court of appeals also ruled Monday that the death of Paul H. Jenkins, of America, a University of Georgia student, who was killed by a train near Athens several years ago, ended his own life and thereby voided an insurance policy for $2,000.

The high court reversed a decision of the summer superior court awarding Dr. R. P. Wise, Jenkins' beneficiary, the $2,000 and $275 interest, ruling that notes left by young Jenkins and the peculiar position of his body clearly indicated suicide. The Pilot Life Insurance Company was defendant in the case.

Santa Fe Train Kills 15-Month-Old Baby

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Declaring he mistook 15-month-old Maomi Rollinson for a doll lying on the track, the engineer of a southbound Santa Fe train told authorities he allowed his train to pass over and kill the child today.

The baby had wandered from her home, located a short distance from the tracks and four miles south of here. The engineer did not discover his mistake until he arrived here and found blood on the front of the engine.

The supreme court held bank tenants do not have to pay damages covering future rentals.

DECISION ON PROSECUTION OF MELLON SAID NEAR

Attorney-General Cummings said Monday the government would decide soon whether to prosecute Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, for alleged income tax delinquencies.

"I will pass on that shortly, very shortly," Cummings said in an interview.

A report on data obtained through prolonged examinations of Mellon's tax affairs has been completed by the government.

TENNESSEE COUNTIES MAY GET FLOOD AID

A bill to reimburse several Tennessee counties for tax revenues lost to them through inundation of land by Norris dam was introduced Monday by Representative Taylor, republican, Tennessee.

Taylor said the bill was designed to enable the counties affected to pay their outstanding indebtedness without increasing their tax rates as would be necessary if they were not compensated for removal of the land from taxation.

KERR LAUDS BENEFITS OF FARM LOAN MEASURE

Speaking in support of the farm production loan bill passed Monday by the house, Representative Kerr, democrat, North Carolina, said no other legislation "has so directly benefited the agricultural interests as this."

Kerr said the American farmers would all pay back their loans if they could, and that congress would make a mistake if it failed to con-

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS SUPPORT TAX RELIEF

More Time for Payment by Delinquents Favored in Both Houses.

By the Associated Press.

The lot of the taxpayer received attention of Mississippi's lawmakers yesterday, while the South Carolina legislature received reports of prospective deficits facing several state agencies.

The Mississippi house adopted a bill to extend the time of poll tax payments from February 1 to April 1, and the senate unanimously passed a measure permitting delinquent taxpayers to obtain a one-year extension in the redemption period for property by paying back taxes and damages for one year.

Estimates filed with the South Carolina senate finance committee indicated deficiencies would total $300,000, with some departments and institutions yet to be heard from.

J. M. Smith, South Carolina state auditor, however, said he felt sure that the fiscal year revenue would meet all needs and possibly leave a surplus.

The question of whisky came before the Virginia legislature with a statement by Senator John J. Wick-er Jr., said he found a growing sentiment for his mandatory manufacture amendments to the Old Dominion's liquor control bill.

"Virginia liquor for Virginians" was the way Senator Wicker summed up the effect of his amendment after a conference with Governor Peery.

He said he would introduce his proposal to the senate finance committee when it takes up the control measure today.

Likewise, the subject of liquor was brought up in the Mississippi legislature when lively debate developed over the question of repeal of the state prohibition laws.

WITNESSES ARE CALLED IN LYNCH BILL HEARING

Atlanta Among Those to Testify; Rolph, Ritchie Make No Acknowledgment.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A long list of witnesses who have asked to testify on the Wagner-Costigan anti-lynching bill was announced today by Chairman Van Nuys, of the senate judiciary subcommittee which is considering the measure.

At the same time Van Nuys said the hearing had been postponed from February 15 to February 20 and 21, because some of the witnesses could not appear until that time.

Although Governors Ritchie, of Maryland, and Rolph, of California, were invited to testify, their names were not on the list because the committee had not heard from them.

Among those listed were: Arthur Garfield Hays, New York attorney; Bishop Francis McCoort, of New York; representatives of the Writers' League Against Lynching, including Harry Hansen, Fannie Hurst, Heywood Brown, Stuart Chase and Faith Baldwin; Mrs. Hannah Cushman, president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and Dr. Will W. agency relief orders, according to reports made to the investigators.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, speaking for the grand jury, said Monday that in launching the probe the grand jury has no intention of attempting to interfere with charitable administration, but is only acting on complaints made to the body that agencies are being imposed upon by unscrupulous persons.

The grand jury first started action when a merchant reported that he had been approached on several occasions by persons who wanted to discount their grocery orders for cash.

Since that time personal calls and telephone communications have poured into the solicitor-general's office from persons offering to give information of impositions by recipients of the orders.

Relief Agencies Invited. Relief agencies have been invited to come before the grand jury with any information they may have which will be of assistance in the investigation, and individuals having any knowledge of any violation of the nature of the complaint, or of irregularities in the administration of any form of charity are free to appear, Boykin announced.

Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state CWA administrator, has welcomed the investigation, stating that where-

TAMPA CAPTURED BY PIRATE CREW, KING GASPARILLA

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—King Gasparilla, in royal ermine robes, rode through Tampa today in his twenty-sixth annual carnival invasion, trailed by a bloody crew of legendary pirates.

He came into the city on a big black schooner, flying the red and green flags of his sovereignty with a convoy of coast guard vessels and airplanes and two naval destroyers.

After a fierce cannonading, his band swept through the Florida fair and the crowded streets of the downtown section with a gorgeous float spectacle.

"The modern pirate" was the theme of the procession, and King Truman Green and Queen Carol Lyons sat on a severely simple throne. The modernistic design of the court floats, however, were contrasted with elaborately decorated entries in other sections of the fair-part parade.

At the fair, the king demanded and got the keys to the city from Mayor R. E. L. Chaney, who announced to the fair crowd that he had abdicated. Governor Dave Sholtz also surrendered the state to the pirate rulers.

The ceremony was the crowning feature of a three-hour festival beginning with the arrival of the pirate fleet, followed by the long parade with 13 bands and floats from many south Florida cities.

Crop Loan Measure Approved by House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The house today amended and passed the senate crop production loan bill, reducing from $45,000,000 to $35,000,000 the amount that may be loaned to farmers in 1934 for crop production purposes.

The senate must accept the $10,000,000 reduction before the bill goes to the White House for approval. The measure passed the house without even the formality of a standing vote.

Flush Clean with Non-Irritating Pluto Water

Ever hear of "cathartic constipation"? Medicine laxatives cause it. Most of them work by irritating the membranes of the digestive tract—an unnatural method! That's why more than 50,000 physicians recommend Pluto Water. For Pluto is not a drug or medicine laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives positive results in less than one hour. It cannot give you the laxative habit!

Pluto Water is gentle—but speedy. It promptly opens the pyloric valve—permitting the flush to enter the intestines without anxious hours of waiting.

The proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass water—is practically tasteless. Take it whenever sluggish—get results within an hour—and end that laxative habit! In two cases: Splits (8 ounces)—large bottles (3 times the quantity). At all druggists.

Relieve Headache and Quiet Nerves In Three Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get nothing but relief in three minutes with "B. C." a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—(adv.)

This formula for skin diseases is astounding the most skeptical in the medicinal world. It cures severe cases of Ringworm, Athlete's Foot, Eczema, Tetter, Itch and other parasitic skin troubles. The minute it touches the sore spot, you feel a soothing, cooling sensation; in a few days you marvel at how your skin has healed. If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, get from any druggist a 90c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back.—(adv.)

Mellon Tax Probe Completed by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The justice department disclosed today that a report on the status of the investigation into the income taxes of Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, had been completed.

Attorney-General Cummings said he had no comment to make but an officer of the department said that an announcement "may be made any minute now or may not be made until Mr. Cummings' next press conference on Thursday."

The department was described as working the "full knowledge and approval" of the treasury department.

The department also has made a reinvestigation into the Aluminum Company of America, controlled by the Mellon family, and termed by Attorney-General Cummings a "100 per cent monopoly in the producing field."

This reinvestigation is still in progress.

Lillian Mae Patterns

"UP ON THE MODE" FOR SMART JUNIORS Pattern 1719.

A girl can easily be among the smartest dressers in her set in a frock like this. It's smart, and it's dashing. See the fetching little vestee and collar fashioned of contrast—they're detachable, and the small sketch picture shows the effect without them. The clever bodice seaming suggests a bolero, and the sleeves perk out adorably for a wider shoulder effect. Any clever junior could make this frock for herself—and make it a perfect success. The sewing instructor included with this pattern will show you how. Use novelty cottons, crepe or sheer wool.

Pattern 1719 is available in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 14 takes 1 7/8 yards 54-inch fabric and 3-8 yard contrasting.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Lillian Mae pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief? Why cutting does not remove the cause? Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless natural remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick, impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success. Do why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—(adv.)

26,000 Rail Workers To Decide on Strike

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A committee representing 13 railway labor unions today decided to ask 26,000 employees of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad to vote on a strike proposal.

The strike ballots was called after the unions presented a list of 507 grievances to Fred W. Sargent, president of the road, and demanded an answer today.

Chief among the grievances was one that Northwestern had "arbitrarily discontinued certain adjustment boards and refused to arbitrate many cases, at great financial loss to union members."

U. S. HIGHWAY ROUTE DEBATED BY VIRGINIANS

Proposed Federal Road to Run From Shenandoah to Smoky Mountains.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Delegations headed by two Virginia congressmen debated the route of the proposed federal highway from the Shenandoah to the Great Smoky mountains national parks here today.

The "judges" were George L. Radcliffe, chairman of the regional public works advisory commission, and two landscape architects of the federal government—Gilmore D. Clark and T. C. Vint—upon whose final recommendation much will depend.

It was after H. G. Shirley, chairman of the Virginia state highway commission, had told Radcliffe that the commission was agreed that the route should run from the Shenandoah to the peaks of Otter and was "perfectly agreeable" to either of two routes proposed from that point on to North Carolina or Tennessee that the debate began.

The delegation, headed by Congressman J. G. Burch, of Martinsville, Va., argued for the "southern route," which would go from the peaks of Otter, pass near Roanoke and go through Franklin, Floyd, Carroll, Patrick and Grayson counties, passing into North Carolina at a point near Fancy Gap. The other delegation, headed by Congressman J. W. Flannigan, argued for the "western route," which would leave the peaks of Otter, in Bedford county, and go through Botetown, Craig, Giles, Giles, Carroll, Patrick and Grayson counties and go into Tennessee near the North Carolina line.

Arguing for the "western route," J. D. Lincoln, of Marion, Va., made a suggestion, an offer which immediately was accepted by the two landscape architects. He, according to the agreement, is to secure planes to fly them over both routes with representatives of each side about the plane to point out their own exhibits. Lincoln argued that the "western route" was best from the standpoint of economy as well as beauty.

Tomorrow the North Carolinians, headed by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, will place their side before the committee. Tennessee follows Wednesday.

EXEMPTIONS GRANTED SIBERIAN PEASANTS

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Exemptions from regulations for the delivery of grain and other agricultural produce were decreed tonight for peasants in the eastern Siberian region, effective February 15.

Workers, engineers, teachers, professional men and red army soldiers and officers of the same area were given substantial pay increases.

The action, ordered by Joseph Stalin, leader of the communist party, and Vyacheslav M. Molotov, president of the council of people's commissars, followed the recently inaugurated policy of strengthening thinly populated centers in the far east and of building up army morale in view of increasingly tense Russo-Japanese relations.

MASS. SENATE KILLS STERILIZATION BILL

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—(UP)—A bill which would have permitted sterilization of insane, feeble-minded and epileptic inmates of state and county institutions died an anticipated death in the Massachusetts senate today. Without debate the senate accepted the adverse report of the public welfare committee, which held apathetic hearings on the bill several weeks ago. The report had previously been accepted in the house and the senate action killed it.

WHY HOSPITALS USE A LIQUID LAXATIVE

The dose can be measured to the drop, and the action thus controlled. Pills and tablets containing drugs of violent action are harder on the bowels, and frequently habit-forming.

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know why?

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

The unwise use of strong cathartics may often do more harm than good.

Can Constipation be safely relieved?

"Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until the bowels are moving regularly without aid.

Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is no "convenience" in any cathartic taken so frequently that you must carry it wherever you go!

How to Choose a Laxative

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains doubtful drugs, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some physician about it. The temporary relief you get from a synthetic,

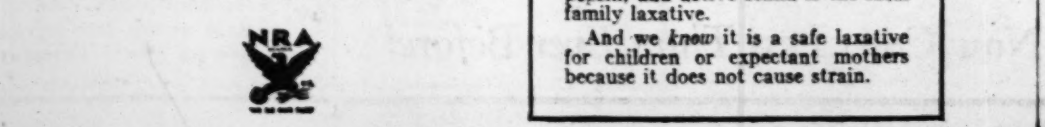

A FRANK STATEMENT by the Makers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

We believe the unwise use of harsh laxatives often does more harm than good.

We believe the use of powerful drugs in the form of pills or tablets is rapidly giving way to gentle regulation of the bowels with a liquid laxative.

We believe Dr. Caldwell's original prescription of fresh herbs, pure pepsin, and active senna is the ideal family laxative.

And we know it is a safe laxative for children or expectant mothers because it does not cause strain.

In a Rough Sea... WATCH YOUR COMPASS!

WHEN the elements are wild and changing, it is easy for the ship to be thrown off its course. The skipper, with close watch on the compass, catches each change, and brings his boat back on its course. For every business man, it seems to me, there is an important thought in such action.

His compass should be periodic auditing, frequent inventory studies, close surveys of production costs to determine whether prices must be adjusted, consideration of more modern equipment to effect production economies.

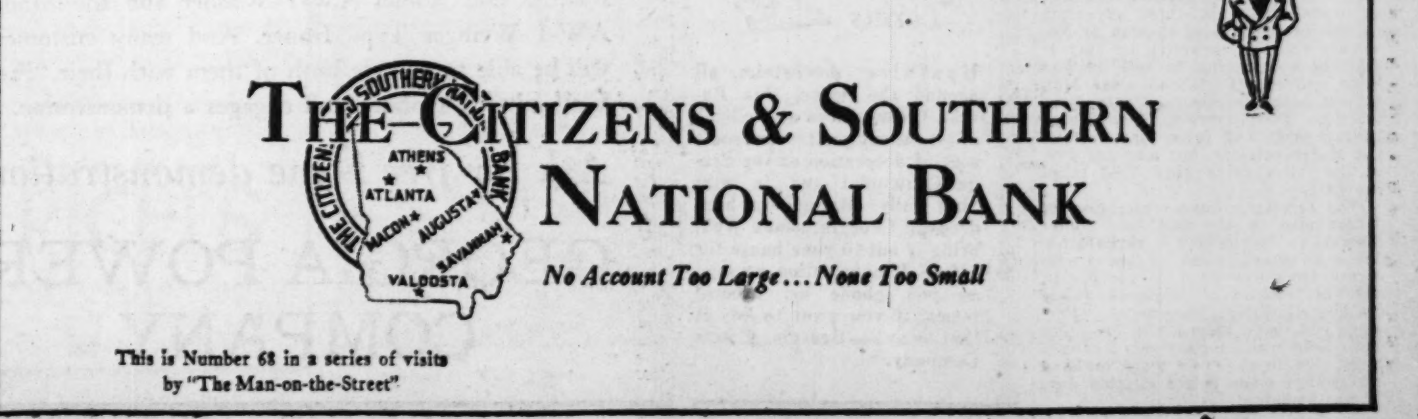

The services of a capable outside auditor can frequently be very valuable in this analysis. We all live very close to our business operations and often a dispassionate outside viewpoint reveals profitable information.

With this information in hand, use it with your bank—through revised financial statements which will protect your credit standing.

Business positively will come back in a big way—sometime. When the real buying surge begins, all forms of business will need bank loans. As always, a clear understanding by the bank of your business position and outlook will be a governing factor for credit. Get an unbiased picture of your business operations clearly fixed in your own mind and likewise in the mind of your bank.

In this sea of readjustment, an uncharted sea for practically every business, there never was greater necessity for watching the compass—exact facts regarding your present operations.

CLOSE GUARD SEEN ON STOCK POOLS

Bill Now Taking Shape May Penalize Certain Phases of Operations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Legislation to make it a criminal offense to engage in stock pool operations resulted from the passage of the senate banking committee, in announcing the near completion of a bill to regulate stock exchanges.

The white-haired senator will active and aggressive despite his years of service, told newspapermen he had almost completed the draft of a bill to supervise stock exchanges through the federal trade commission and a license system.

His drastic proposal to curb pool operations resulted from listening, as chairman of the senate stock market investigating committee, to evidence of gigantic syndicates involving many millions of dollars through which insiders profited at the expense of the general public.

"We ought to prohibit pools, not merely regulate them," Fletcher said with emphasis. "We should make it a criminal offense to engage in pool operations, with a fine, and imprisonment as the penalty."

He added he hoped to have his bill, which will serve as the basis for hearings by the senate committee, ready for introduction by the end of the week. He is determined to have such legislation passed at this session of congress if possible.

The bill is being drafted under Fletcher's direction by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, and his staff.

POLICE SCATTER FRENCH VETERANS

Today was the first of a series of rioting to occur near President Albert Lebrun's residence, as the veterans would stage further demonstrations tomorrow night.

Politically the government appeared assured of a vote of confidence in the measures outlined for clearing the St. Skivsky scandal, but a stormy session was likely, while fear of threatened rioting kept the ministry nervous, although determined to use a strong hand.

The tense political situation was reflected in the house where stocks and bonds slumped and the dollar bounded up on a buying wave attributed to nervous traders, afraid of political developments, who were anxious to sell francs.

Threatened demonstrations by veterans in protest against the dismissal of Jean Chippie, Paris police prefect, gathering of socialist "shock troops" and the possibility of renewed manifestations by royalists against the government brought the troop reinforcements into the city.

The normal Paris garrison of 4,000 was backed up by detachments from the provinces, while in addition there were 2,000 mounted riders of the republican guard and heavy forces of the Mobile guard.

Ten machine guns, eight mounted in two sections and the others ready for action, rolled in small cars drawn by mules to the Louvre barracks, the one closest to the chamber of deputies.

The courtyard of the barracks was crowded with soldiers.

As the machine guns passed through the streets there was some whistling from spectators—in France the whistle is the equivalent of hissing—while one man shouted, "That is what they are going to feed us Parisians."

Government officials recognize that police who are reputed to be devoted personally to Chippie are likely to show little enthusiasm for breaking up pro-Chippie demonstrations.

Chippie was removed as an outgrowth of the Stavisky scandal.

The main organization of veterans, however, warned members not to participate in the demonstration.

The young government expected to get a vote of confidence without difficulty against 18 interpellations as socialist announced they would support Daladier.

A strike by taxi-drivers automatically cleared the streets and furnished thousands of possible recruits to riot leaders.

Several thousand veterans later gathered at the Place de la Madeleine and started for the ministry of the interior, but were again driven off by charging mounted guards.

They then paraded before the Unknown Soldier's tomb in the Place de l'Entaille and a third time headed toward the ministry, but were dispersed by heavy police forces after 45 minutes of disorders.

Deputy Scapini, widely known in the United States, and a veterans leader who was killed during the World War, was struck and slightly bruised during the melee.

Two policemen were seriously hurt. Ten persons were arrested.

THIRTEEN IN RACE FOR COUNTY BOARD

enter, were those entering formally Monday.

Six already qualified.

In addition, Dr. Charles R. Adams, William L. McCalley Jr., Quincy O. Arnold, Joe W. Ray, W. C. Smith and Ed L. Almond had entered previously.

There will be no runners as a result of the primary. The high vote getter in the Henrix succession bracket will win the nomination there, and the two highest vote-getters from the remaining field will be the nominees for the two other positions.

About 500 new voters registered Monday, the final day for registration of voters who expect to vote in the March 7 primary, according to estimates in the office of Tax Collector R. S. Richardson.

Must Register May 1.

Harrison called attention to the fact that although registration may be made any time, those expecting to vote in the general election in November must be registered by May 1, and those expecting to vote in any state and county election after May 1 must have paid their 1933 taxes at the time of registration. Hence, those having paid 1932 taxes may vote in the March primary, but may not vote in the fall election until 1933 taxes are paid.

The secretary directs attention of voters also to the fact that under Georgia's permanent registration laws, a voter's name is not transferred from one ward to another in case of removal of residence unless he himself directs the change. Persons who have moved but have not had their ward registration changed must vote in their old ward or have the change made before election day, it was explained.

AUSTRIA APPEALS FOR PROTECTION

question of imposing penalties on Germany, if a report adverse to the reich were submitted, not entering the consideration.

In London it was said Great Britain played no part in the decisions to appeal to the League and that British policy in connection with Austria-German relations may not be considered until a formal protest is filed.

PROTECTION FROM NAZIS IS SOUGHT BY AUSTRIA

Vienna, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Austria, will one province gone fascist as the result of a sensational coup, turned to the League of Nations today for protection against what her leader called German aggression.

Prince Ernst von Starheimberg, leader of the Heimwehr, established his own men in office in the Tyrol and informed Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss that in the future, the militant home guard would support the chancellor only if he suppressed government by political parties.

Dollfuss himself announced tonight that he was leaving Vienna Wednesday to go to Budapest for two days.

There, he said, he would confer with Julius Gombos, premier of Hungary. The capital was immediately interested in what might happen in the inner political circles while he was absent.

Just previous to announcing his intended conference with Hungarian statesmen, the Austrian cabinet, after a solemn deliberation, empowered Dollfuss to appeal directly to Geneva for protection.

Austria's appeal to the League will deal with what it regards as the infiltration from Germany of Nazi propaganda and terrorism.

Several days' work.

It was not immediately clear when the complaint actually will be filed at Geneva and it was pointed out that the technical details such as the translation of the Austrian document into French, English and other languages would occupy several days.

The appeal to the League was indicated last month when Dollfuss announced that he felt Germany was not respecting the national rights of Austria, and might be forced to take steps in Geneva. An official communication following the cabinet's decision today said:

"The chancellor held a special session of the cabinet and laid before it the measures outlined for clearing the St. Skivsky scandal, but a stormy session was likely, while fear of threatened rioting kept the ministry nervous, although determined to use a strong hand."

The tense political situation was reflected in the house where stocks and bonds slumped and the dollar bounded up on a buying wave attributed to nervous traders, afraid of political developments, who were anxious to sell francs.

AIRCRAFT PROFITS BRING TAX PROBE

Pratt-Whitney Made Return of 50 Per Cent on Engines Sold to Navy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Learning that one contractor had made a 50 per cent profit on a $10,000,000 navy airplane engine order, a house naval affairs subcommittee today set out to determine why, and whether the profit was too high.

Pratt-Whitney Company, which made the engines, was asked to testify in the committee's investigation of whether profits by naval airplane builders had been too high.

The 50 per cent profit figure was based on an audit made by naval men attached to the bureau of supplies and accounts and presented to the committee today by Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the navy's aeronautics bureau.

Individual Items Aeronautical.

Delaney pointed out that the navy's auditors did not question individual items on the books of various companies. If, for example, one company included in its costs 1,000 man hours, the auditor did not have means to check each hour.

"We'll have to look into that, very closely, as we go along," he said.

The navy's audit will be needed for only after Admiral King said it might give away "trade secrets."

He was willing to give the detailed information to the committee, but added he was not sure "how far I should go in the presence of the rest of the audience."

There were three persons, besides reporters, in the room.

"We don't want the country to think we're having a closed session on this," Delaney replied. "Please go right ahead, admiral."

$21,299,567 Business.

The audit he presented showed Pratt-Whitney's business for the years 1927 to 1933, inclusive, did $21,299,567 of engine business for the navy and made a 36 per cent profit on that business.

Because the Wright Aeronautical Company, during the same period, was making 5 per cent on contracts for $11,333,130, the committee decided to inspect income tax returns of the two firms as well as those of nine other companies which supplied only planes.

The Douglas Aircraft Company also made 21 per cent on $4,288,341.

Pratt-Whitney's 50 per cent profit, King disclosed, was made in 1930.

which needs peace rather than to be kept in a continued state of agitation."

COURSE OF LEAGUE SAID PROBLEMATIC.

GENEVA, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The course the League of Nations council would pursue when Austria appeals to it regarding Austro-German relations was considered problematic today in League circles.

The question of imposing penalties on Germany if the council should find Germany guilty of interfering with Austria in defiance of treaties, it was said in official quarters, may not arise.

Many leaders were of the opinion that the council would hear both sides of the argument and that the affair would be similar to the Sino-Japanese controversy in 1932, when the League studied the question of Japanese military activities in Manchuria.

Practically every organization behind Dollfuss is split into fascist and anti-fascist sections and the anti-fascist wing of government circles said that even the Tyrolean Heimwehr itself was hopelessly split into pro-Von Starheimberg and anti-Von Starheimberg groups.

Cautious outsiders were carefully refraining from making any predictions.

Vice Chancellor Emil Fey, a member of the Heimwehr and the man who with Dollfuss and Von Starheimberg, governs Austria, will be in charge of the government during Dollfuss's absence from the country.

The newspaper Tagesschau described an appeal to the League, in view of Germany's absence from Geneva, of "only propaganda value likely to increase the tension between Germany and Austria and also in Europe."

Several thousand veterans later gathered at the Place de la Madeleine and started for the ministry of the interior, but were again driven off by charging mounted guards.

They then paraded before the Unknown Soldier's tomb in the Place de l'Entaille and a third time headed toward the ministry, but were dispersed by heavy police forces after 45 minutes of disorders.

Deputy Scapini, widely known in the United States, and a veterans leader who was killed during the World War, was struck and slightly bruised during the melee.

Two policemen were seriously hurt. Ten persons were arrested.

COUNCIL APPROVES NEW CITY BUDGET

tail another 3 per cent cut for non-school employees.

Gilliam quoted figures before the aldermen's board showing that personnel of the school department has increased 8 per cent and pay rolls 13 per cent since 1927, while non-school departments show a personnel gain of 5 per cent and a pay roll hike of only .022 per cent during the same period.

He read a letter from Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia CWA administrator, in which she said the federal government expected Atlanta to contribute $50,000 a month for the year for relief work.

The council, on Gilliam's recommendation, passed an ordinance providing for refunding of $50,000 during this year to provide the money for relief purposes.

Vote on Finance Sheet.

Council vote on adoption of the finance sheet follows:

Cobb, Loehr, McCutcheon, White, Berman, Childs, Knight, Hastings, Owen, Rogers, Knier, Haire, Deckner, Lyle, Johnson, Rusk and Wilson for; total 17. Almond, Bridges, Milam, Beck, Curtis, Sutton and Rantlin against; total 7.

Adopted a resolution presented by Alderman J. G. Haire and Elmer B. Barrett inviting the 1933 session of the Baptist World's Alliance to Atlanta, Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, who will attend the 1934 session to be held in Berlin, was named to deliver the invitation.

Reduced the license on sound trucks, those equipped with loud speakers, from $100 a year to $50, and set a license of $200 a year for dealers in jail equipment.

Opinions Asked on Bonds.

8. Heard Gilliam read a communication from Philip M. Benton, finance officer of the PWA, Washington, to the effect that any further city refunded bonds accepted by PWA would have to be backed by opinion of nationally known bond attorneys as to their legality.

9. Voted to pay merchants six per cent on certificates of indebtedness issued in the future instead of four per cent as in the past.

10. Referred to the finance committee a proposal by Barrett that $26,000 be added to the finance sheet to give each of the 13 city wards an additional $2,000 for streets ordinary expenditure.

Officials of the Pittman Company announced they would begin work on the new police station within ten days from the time the mayor approves the contract, and that they would push it to uninterrupted conclusion. It is expected that the new building will be finished by the end of the summer months. The structure will be five stories high and will be adequate to meet Atlanta's needs for many years to come.

Other Action Taken.

Among important actions of council Monday afternoon were the following:

1. Filing of a report submitted by B. Graham West, city comptroller, showing that the city must provide $55,418 to meet deficiencies in pension funds of the fire and general city departments for the year. He estimated assets of the firemen's fund at $34,340 for the year and liabilities at $82,191. Assets of the general fund were set at $37,271, and liabilities at $85,344.

2. Council accepted an invitation to attend the regular annual staff dinner of Grady hospital at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the hospital.

3. Sent back to the ordinance committee a resolution drawn by Councilman Joseph E. Berman and designed to prevent Luke Arnold, Key's secretary, from representing the city at functions.

4. Dubbed a measure offered by Alderman Millican to eliminate provisions carried in a previous ordinance making it mandatory that the Grady board hold at least one public meeting a month and also allowing council members to attend any meeting of the board.

5. Heard Councilman Aubrey Milam, chairman of council's school committee, tell council that he expects to make the school committee a regular committee of council to consider all matters pertaining to the school department. Milam said the committee would be organized by March 1.

City Refuses License To 'Daddy's' Daughter

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—City Clerk Michael J. Cruise today refused to issue a marriage license to Dorothy Browning, adopted daughter of Edward West (Daddy) Browning, and Clarence B. Hood, of Duane, N. C., because Hood is only 20 years old.

The couple went to the marriage license bureau in the municipal building with two witnesses, Mrs. H. H. Weber and William Clifford, intending to get a license and be married later in the Church of the Transfiguration, the "Little Church Around the Corner," where the girl said, "Daddy himself will give me away."

The youth said his mother had given her verbal consent to the marriage, but Cruise was adamant. Hood then declared he would go to surrogate's court and have a guardian appointed, and left the girl with friends while he hurried to the court.

tee would not be a one-man committee in the future. He solicited the cooperation of members in eliminating "misunderstandings between council and the school board."

6. Adopted a resolution presented by Alderman J. G. Haire and Elmer B. Barrett inviting the 1933 session of the Baptist World's Alliance to Atlanta, Dr. Louis D. Accusation of Dying Man Entered Against Dr. Dean

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 5.—(AP) Gaining a major victory, the state today won the right to present to the jury in the murder trial of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean a reputed deathbed statement in which Dr. John Preston Kennedy was quoted as saying the woman gave him a poison whisky highball.

With the jury excluded from the courtroom, the court heard the statement from Dr. Henry Kennedy, young dentist brother of the dead physician, and over strenuous objection of the defense ordered that the testimony be repeated before the jurors tomorrow.

The dentist, appearing as the chief prosecution witness, was subjected to lengthy cross-examination by the defense upon completion of his testimony. A motion by the attractive defendant's attorneys to bar the evidence on the ground that it was inadmissible subsequently was overruled by Judge S. F. Davis, presiding.

Dr. Henry Kennedy told his story in the tense hush of a crowded courtroom, alleging his brother told him another brother, and an attending physician as he was dying that Dr. Dean gave him poison in a whisky highball during an after-midnight meeting at Kennedy's clinic.

"She has been worrying me, calling me several times each night," Henry Kennedy quoted his brother as saying before he died in Baptist hospital in Jackson.

Calm as ever, listening intently but apparently without strain, the handsome woman defendant kept her eyes fixed on the witness, who avoided her gaze, throughout the recital. She made no show of emotion but once a faint smile played about her lips as the witness said they had asked Preston Kennedy "what he wanted done," and quoted him as saying:

"Do what you want but don't do anything that will keep us three from meeting in Heaven."

In cross-examination, Chief Defense Counsel A. F. Gardner brought out that Dr. Preston Kennedy had not told anyone "what was wrong with him" and that a physician who attended him in Greenwood had been told he was suffering from poisoning as a result of eating a sandwich.

"During this statement, did anyone point out to Preston that he was incriminating Dr. Dean as his murderer?" Gardner asked.

"No, sir; no one said anything about that," replied the witness.

Henry Kennedy said his brother was "the weak" to sign a written statement.

Anne Cannon Smith To Seek Ark. Divorce

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Anne Cannon Smith today established residence here with the announced intention of obtaining a divorce under Arkansas' 90-day statute from her second husband, F. Brandon Smith, son of a wealthy Charlotte (N. C.) hardware manufacturer.

Mrs. Smith, first wife of Zachary Smith Reynolds, millionaire son of the tobacco magnate who died under mysterious circumstances at his palatial home in Winston-Salem, N. C., several years ago, was accompanied here by her father, Joseph F. Cannon, millionaire textile manufacturer of Concord, N. C., and a retinue of servants.

Refusing to see reporters, she authorized an announcement through her attorney that she would charge general indignities in her complaint and that the divorce would not be contested.

The textile heiress married Smith May 4, 1932, at the Blowing Rock, N. C., summer home of the Cannons, shortly after her divorce from Smith Reynolds, who later married Libby Holman, Broadway torch singer. She has a daughter by Reynolds. The baby did not accompany her here.

Miss Candler Represents Georgia at Galveston Ball

Charming Miss Rena Candler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Candler, who was pictured in the stunning costume she will wear as the "Duchess from Georgia" at the ball climaxed the annual Mardi Gras celebration in Galveston, Texas, which takes place Saturday evening. Miss Candler leaves today for Galveston to visit her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Thompson, and to be present for the whirl of parties being given during carnival week. The beautiful parade of floats Saturday will be followed in the evening by a brilliant ball, and no visiting belle will be lovelier than Georgia's representative. Miss Candler's costume is fashioned of shimmering shell pink satin. The bodice and embroidery are of glittering silver sequins and the train made of pink tulle. Miss Julia Andrews Weds Mr. Shepherd On February 10

The marriage of Miss Julia Andrews and Sylvester Brown Shepherd Jr., of Raleigh, N. C., will be a brilliant social event of February 10 and will take place in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Raleigh at 5:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The attractive bride-elect has a wide circle of friends in Atlanta, made upon frequent visits to Mrs. J. Randolph Brown, the former Miss Myra Boynton.

Miss Andrews and Mrs. Brown were classmates at Gunston Hall in Washington, D. C., and their friendship dates from their school days. When Mrs. Brown made her debut in society at a reception given at the Piedmont Driving Club in November, 1929, Miss Andrews stood in the receiving line. When Mrs. Brown was married in September, 1931, Miss Andrews was among the bevy of attractive bridesmaids in the Boynton-Brown bridal party.

Mrs. R. T. Dozier leaves this week to attend the Andrews-Shepherd rites, the bride-elect being a first cousin of Mrs. Dozier. Miss Andrews served as maid of honor for Mrs. Dozier when as Miss Julia Andrews Marks, she became the bride of R. T. Dozier in a fashionable ceremony taking place in August, 1928, in St. John's Episcopal church in Montgomery, Ala. Mrs. Dozier is a daughter of Mrs. William M. Marks and the late Mr. Marks, well-known and influential citizens of Alabama.

Miss Andrews is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Harris Andrews, who are prominently identified with social, cultural and civic circles in North Carolina. Miss Mary Simmons Andre will act as maid of honor at the Andrews-Shepherd wedding and will serve as her sister's only attendant. Mr. Shepherd and his prospective bride will reside in Raleigh after their marriage, and will be charming acquisitions to the younger married set of society.

'ANGEL' OF REDS ENTERS LEAGUE WITH $15,000,000

Does Not Know What
It's All About But Can Spend.

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A solemn-faced baseball writer, having just learned that Powell Crosley Jr. had purchased the Cincinnati Reds, walked up to the new magnate at the baseball writers' banquet and said extended his hand.

"My sincerest sympathy," he said. "Mr. Crosley, potentially the Tom Hawley of the baseball league, was a trifle stunned, many times a millionaire through his radio and refrigerator business, he is frank to admit that big league baseball is a mystery to him, and the ways of baseball men, their language and humor, are even more baffling.

Thinks like that have been happening to him ever since the announcement Sunday that he had purchased control of the club that helped bankrupt Sidney Hill and finally wound up the property of the bank in Cincinnati. He has a trace of the look of a man who doesn't know what's going to happen next and fears the worst, but they say he's got $15,000,000 and is very free with it.

CIVIC PRIDE.

He's 48 years old, about 6 feet 3 inches tall, has two planes that he will carry 10 men if he ever decides to move the Reds around by air, and he plays polo.

With the help of red-headed Larry MacPhail, his business manager, Crosley explained today that civic pride for Cincinnati, rather than any absorbing love for baseball, moved him to buy the Reds.

"A couple of times each year for several years I've been invited in but I never was interested," he said. "Then I got into difficulties, the bank took over the club, and there was talk that the team might be taken away from Cincinnati."

"So a friend came to me and asked if I'd be interested in the idea. MacPhail had for years been in the Reds, and I said 'yes.' We talked it over, and I went off to Florida, leaving my lawyers to close the deal. I think it was a good buy."

"Cincinnati is a good baseball city. It deserves and will support a good team, it probably will cost considerable money to develop that. We plan to plow right back in whatever we get at the gate."

"MacPhail has reins. Eventually I expect baseball will pay its own way in Cincinnati. I don't know enough about it to try to direct the recovery. MacPhail will do that. The most I'll try is a suggestion once in a while."

The idea got around that Crosley played baseball in college. He didn't. When he was of high school age in Cincinnati he pitched for the College Hill Belmets. After that his baseball career was confined to the single men versus the married men at club picnics, and he has played on both sides though not with great distinction, for either, for three or four years he broadcast the opening day games of the Reds.

MacPhail is something else again. A big fellow, an end, he played three years at Ohio Military school, one at the University of Cincinnati and another with the Ohio National Guard team.

He's very much interested in engines. He has an automobile he has driven 118 miles and he thinks it will do 125. He drives alone, for obvious reasons. His hobby is speed. So he's in for quite a shock the first time he sees his big catcher, Mollie Foster (Schonozale) Lombardi, running bases.

Reds, Cards Plan
Big Player Deals.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—While club owners of the National league meet tomorrow in their annual winter session, managers of all the major league teams already were conferring and beginning each other today making final efforts to pry away from someone else reinforcements for the 1934 campaign.

The biggest business if any probably will be done by the Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, the latter represented by Bill McKechnie, Boston manager, and his general manager, Larry MacPhail.

There are four separate deals I'd like to make with the Cardinals," MacPhail said today. "But I'm not certain of any of them. St. Louis controls at least 250 players through the farm system and at least 50 of them would be available."

MacPhail, former manager of one of the Cardinals, Columbus, in the American association, knows their player situation intimately. He attended a conference with Branch Rickey, St. Louis business manager, tonight, and several more were scheduled for tomorrow. The Cardinals already have dealt freely in the past.

MacPhail also will bring a suggestion for a rule change before the league meeting. Under present rules no player withdrawn from a game may appear on the coaching lines later. With five playing managers in the league, including his own, Bob O'Farrell, Frankie Frisch, Bill Terry, Charley Gribbin and Jimmy Wilson, he believes they should be allowed to coach after retiring from actual play.

Bill McKechnie, Boston manager, said he was not interested in a deal with Brooklyn that had been reported brewing.

"No one there we want," Bill said. George Gibson, manager of the Pirates, interviewed all comers today but without results. With the Reds sliding fast, Bill Hargis, third baseman, was little prospect of the Chicago Cubs making a deal elsewhere. Bill Terry and the Giants are not in the trading market.

No American league deals were reported in the making.

Winn and Mauldin
Will Meet Tonight

Wrestling cards will return to the Howell Mill road arena tonight and every Tuesday night hereafter. The arena has been closed for the past several months.

Hugh Winn, light-heavyweight wrestling champion of Georgia, who has not lost a match in some 300 matches, meets John Mauldin, of Center Hill. They are scheduled for two hours, best-two-out-of-three-falls match.

In the semi-windup, Eddie Wagner, former middleweight champion of the navy, meets Bill Ward, of Marietta. They will fight it out in a one-hour, two-out-of-three-falls match. Glenn Cowan faces Red Dugan, of Chattanooga, in the opening skirmish.

The card will start at 8:15 o'clock.

BREAK O' DAY!

By Ralph McKill

It's quite a story that's going the rounds once more—They do be saying that Major Robert Neyland will not be back at Tennessee this spring or next fall to coach the football team. This has come to be a sort of annual story but this time, the boys say, it will stick.

Vanderbilt University already has this little poem all ready for release in the event the major is sent elsewhere by the war department:

Major, old pal, we held thee dear

As Springtime's breath of dawn;

But Major, dear old pal,

We do thank God you're gone.

That is, gone to some other spot. Probably to Ohio State where Sam Willaman has recently resigned. The major was a great pain to all his foes but notably was he a pain to Vanderbilt University.

The story which a Knoxville man, who doesn't talk just to exercise his vocal chords, whispered into these shell-like ears of mine (you know, turtle shells) was that politics had the major all tied up.

The army people feel that the major has been on duty at Tennessee long enough. Hence the request, which went through some weeks ago from United States Senator Kenneth D. McKellar for the transfer of the major back to The Hill for another tour of duty, is being held up.

There is some hitch in Washington. Spring practice is about ready to start at Knoxville. But the major is not yet transferred.

"The people in Knoxville are worried to death. They've pulled all the wires they can and are pulling others. But Washington hasn't come through. The newspapermen and others close to the situation tell me the major will not be back." Thus spake the Knoxville man.

I will say this for the major. When he took the Tennessee team it went up like a skyrocket. But its ascension was the only manner in which it resembled one. His teams did not explode and fall. They lingered around in the cupola of southern football for eight years.

And he stuck quite a few glittering stars in the Dixie gridiron firmament. Need we mention Bobby Dodd, Gene McEwen, Buddy Hackman, Beatty Feathers, Herman Hickman and a host of others?

His record of victories across eight years is the greatest one the south has seen. They said he played a schedule which wasn't so tough. But any time any coach wins as many games as did the major's teams—he had something. It couldn't be laughed off.

Probably the politicians will get it all fixed up and transfer the major back to The Hill at Knoxville. But it would be a shame to spoil Vanderbilt's little poem.

And, oh, yes—if he DOES leave Bobby Dodd will be getting an offer as an assistant coach.

"WE ARE SEVEN."

When the Southeastern conference was formed a little more than a year ago, the members of the junta got together at Knoxville and determined to limit themselves to a membership of 13.

They were just as firm and persistent about this as was the little girl in Longfellow's poem who kept insisting that she and her sisters were seven in number. As I recall it she kept saying, "We Are Seven."

But indications are that the Southeastern conference will become 14 instead of remaining 13.

There is a great move on to swing Loyola of New Orleans into the conference ranks. I am going to understand that considerable lobbying is being done and that Loyola has a real chance to enter.

I couldn't name you a single reason why not. But for years the Loyola application was tabled by the Southern conference. I presume the chances are better now that "we are 13."

There will be an amendment presented at the meeting this week in Baton Rouge.

THE SCOUTING RULE WAS INIQUITOUS.

The scouting rule, which the conference had last season, was iniquitous. Or perhaps we should say it worked for iniquity. It limited the number of games to be scouted to two.

This led to all sorts of subterfuges. Other games were scouted. At any rate there is an amendment coming up at the Baton Rouge meeting this week which would eliminate the scouting rule. It provides only that two scouts be appointed and no other man used for scouting purposes.

Having no vote whatsoever in the matter let me go on record as approving most heartily the stand of the institution bringing the amendment.

QUITE A MONTH.

It is to be assumed that everyone else shared the enthusiasm of Mr. Jake Harris and this reporter when yesterday dawned in all its fullness beauty. It was quite a day, being the birthday of Mr. Harris and this faithful laborer in the vineyard. (Journalistic.)

And February is quite a month at that. To list just a few of the claims for fame will prove that point in what was known (in the gay nineties when Mr. Harris and I were born) as a jiffy.

Flower—Violet. (Well, anyhow, it isn't a pansy.) Birthstone—Amethyst. (Which stands for sincerity, you muggs.)

Feb. 3—Birthday of Horace Greeley, 1811. It was he who said "Go West, Young Man, Go West." (And you should see how Mr. Harris and I go for the Mae West pictures.)

Feb. 4—National Drama Week. (Honest.)

Feb. 5—Birthday of Mr. Jake Harris and Ralph McGill.

Feb. 6—Massachusetts, the sixth state, admitted to Union.

Feb. 7—Charles Dickens born, 1812. Babe Ruth born 1894.

Feb. 8—Boy Scout anniversary.

Feb. 9—Harrison, ninth president, born, 1773.

Feb. 10—Morgan Blake born, 1492.

Feb. 11—Daniel Boone born, 1735. Thomas Edison born, 1847.

Feb. 12—Lincoln, 16th president, born, 1809.

Feb. 14—Telephone patented and Arizona admitted to Union.

Feb. 16—Senate passes repeal resolution.

Feb. 18—Edison patented phonograph, 1873.

Feb. 19—Ohio admitted to Union.

Feb. 22—Washington born, 1732. James Russell Lowell born, 1819.

Feb. 25—First United States bank chartered.

Feb. 27—Longfellow born, 1807.

Add to these Caruso and Marconi and you will understand why February furnishes 25 per cent of all those in the Hall of Fame. What a month!

SMITH AND COX TOP GOLF PROS IN PRIZE MONEY

Veteran Scot Has Gleaned
$2,070 on Coast;
Hunter Third.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Feb. 5.—(AP)—MacDonald Smith, campaigner of the fairways for more than 40 years, is the leading money winner of the 1933-34 winter golf tour through the Californians.

The old master from Carnoustie, Scotland, by way of New York, San Francisco and Nashville, collected cash in all of the six tournaments he entered to run up a total of $2,070.64, approximately a twelfth of the $22,000 posted.

In the scramble, which saw the winnings more widely distributed than ever before, Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn, finished a close second with $2,070.67, while Willie Hunter, of Culver City, Cal., was third, gleaming $1,914.16.

OTHER LEADERS.
Seven others received more than a thousand dollars. They were Paul Runyan, youthful White Plains, N. Y., pro; Denny Shute, British open champion from Miami; Olin Dutra, former national P. G. A. champion from Santa Monica; Jimmy Thomson, of Long Beach, Cal.; Bill Mehlhorn, of Brooklyn; Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y.; and Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Illinois.

Only Mehlhorn, Creavy and Smith were able to do this well a season ago, due largely to the fact that they were able to win only $225.75, while Fred Morrison, of Pasadena, leading cash collector of 1932, had to be satisfied with $275.32 as compared with his $2,746.66 total two years ago.

Mac Smith earned most of his money winning the Los Angeles open for the fourth time and finishing second to Runyan in the Pasadena open. Cox conquered a fine field in the Agua Caliente open here yesterday to move into second place on the basis of earnings with first prize money of $1,500.

Hunter won his share on a consistent performance which gave him second here yesterday to Cox, and a tie for second in the Los Angeles open. Not to mention what he picked up at Pasadena, Santa Monica and Long Beach.

THE BIG WINNERS.
Victory in the Pasadena championship gave Runyan fourth place. The leading money winners as the parade headed south were:

Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn, $2,070.67.
Willie Hunter, Culver City, $1,914.16.
Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., $1,851.42.
Denny Shute, Miami, $1,298.
Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, $1,239.17.
Jimmy Thomson, Long Beach, $1,119.66.
Bill Mehlhorn, Brooklyn, $1,120.
Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., $1,017.42.
Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., $950.48.
Leo Diegel, Philadelphia, $751.67.
Harry Cooper, Chicago, $727.
George Von Elm, Los Angeles, $692.06.
Charles H. Johnson, Los Angeles, $645.71.
Willie Goggin, San Francisco, $450.
Harold Schenck, Kansas City, $400.13.
John Rogers, Denver, $447.88.
Morton Nelson, Teasdale, $354.71.
Dick Metz, Deal, N. J., $338.92.
Frank Wood, Deal, N. J., $329.15.
Harold Schenck, Kansas City, Kan., $281.25.
Fred Morrison, Pasadena, $275.32.
Vic Ghezzi, Ramona, N. J., $216.66.
Jim Fogarty, St. Louis, $209.10.
Tom Stevens, Glendale, $200.

Cunningham Breaks
Half-Mile Record

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham, sensational American velocity of Kansas flyer, broke the half-mile record for the 113th infantry army track tonight, stepping the five laps on the flat boards in 1 minute and 58.2 seconds.

Although he failed to get competition from a select field for the special event in the eighth annual Seton Hall College games, the midwesterner ran a brilliant race to cut two-fifths of a second off the record set 13 years ago by Mike Devanney, of the Millrose A. A.

In the final race, the tape 10 yards ahead of Frank Nordell, New York University's "iron man," coming from fourth place in the last two laps, content to hang behind to become accustomed to the slippery track, unbanked and with treacherous turns, Cunningham passed Dean Woolsey, of the Boston A. A., and Joe Chapman, of Newark A. C., without any effort whatsoever at the start of the fourth lap and then breezed by the leading Nordell as though the Violet ace were standing still.

The Kansan's time for the first quarter was 58.25 seconds. Observers estimated his 1-57 was comparable to a 1:55 in Madison Square Garden, where he ran away from Gene Venke in the mile only two nights ago.

Clarkston Prepares
For Girls' Tourney

CLARKSTON, Ga., Feb. 5.—Ex-tentative preparations are being made for a girls' invitation basketball tournament to be held in the Clarkston High school gymnasium Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Pairings for the tournament will be drawn Tuesday and play will start at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, with four or five games slated to open the tourney.

Teams already entered include Palmetto Stone, Tucker, Arundale, Chamblee, Lithia Springs, W. O. Dekalb, Snellville, Duluth, Stone Mountain and Clarkston, the sponsor.

Dodd Will Remain
At Georgia Tech

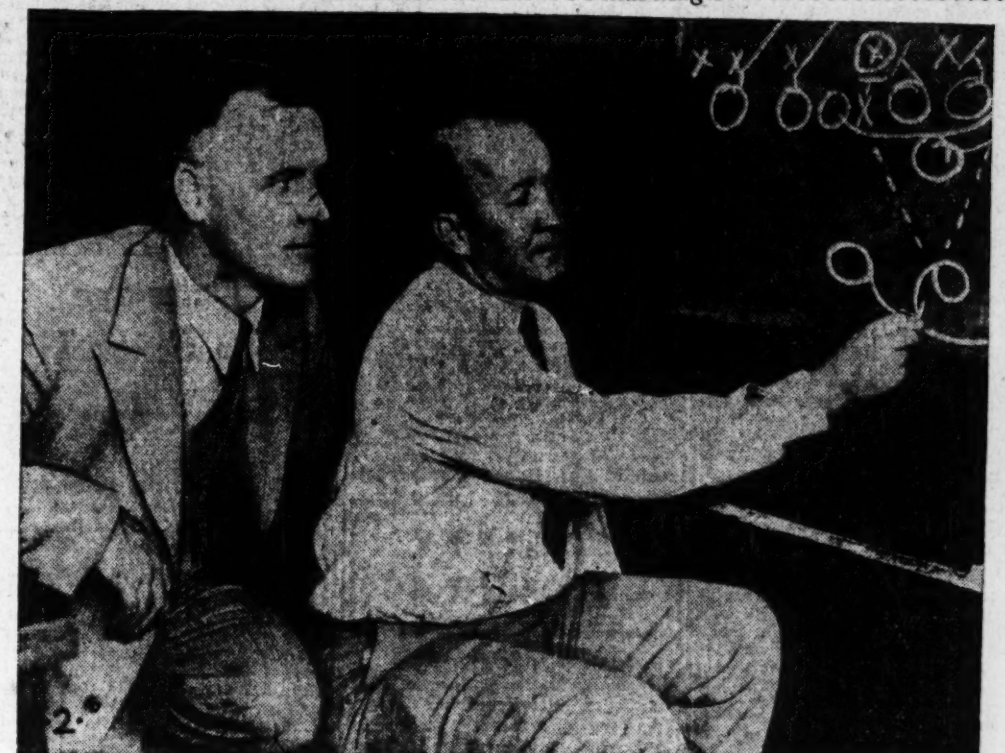

Bobby Dodd will request officials of the University of Richmond to withdraw his name from consideration as the head coach there because of a decision to remain in his present capacity as backfield coach at Georgia Tech, it was learned yesterday.

Dodd, who returned to Georgia to assist Coach W. A. Alexander with spring training, made the decision following his return from Richmond, it was understood.

Dodd, along with Gus Tebell, coach at Virginia, and Glenn Thielstrome, was seen (though receiving favor for head coach's vacancy at Richmond).

POINTER, SETTER BID FOR HONORS

The fame of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's famous football coach, will hover for many decades above his dust. You see him with Hunk Anderson, his line coach and later his successor, working out one of the baffling plays that helped crush a great Southern California team at Los Angeles in December, 1930. What made Knute Rockne one of the greatest coaches of all time? Knowledge of football, ability to teach, a striking personality, wit, charm and amazing inspirational qualities that have never been equaled on a football field.

Rockne's South Bend Simoon beat Southern California, 27-0, in that final game, for which Rockne is shown here making final plans. (Copyright, 1934, by Grantland Rice.)

Conference May Lift Present Scouting Rule

This, Grouping of Officials and Admission of Loyola Main Problems.

By Ralph McGill.

When the Southeastern conference big-wigs bend their ears at the annual meeting at Baton Rouge on Friday and Saturday of this week they will hear quite a few important amendments proffered.

A few of the more important ones finds:

1. A move on to abolish the present scouting rule.

2. A move to increase the membership maximum to 14, instead of the present 13.

3. A move to restore the professional player to eligibility as coach.

4. Reclassification of football officials in squads or crews of four.

5. Increase in number of freshmen football games from two to four.

There are other amendments which will be offered but these are considered the more important.

The scouting rule as it now stands was passed last winter in Atlanta. It provides that each institution might scout a rival no more than twice.

The rule led to general dissatisfaction and suspicion. There were insinuated charges that some institutions did not live up to the rule but scouted as much as they chose.

At any rate the rule is likely to succeed. The only reservation will be that each institution appoint two men as scouts and employ them exclusively. There will be no way to enforce this rule but it will be an improvement on the other.

The amendment to increase the membership to 14 will likely succeed with Loyola, of New Orleans, the new member. Unless some new influence changes the votes, Loyola is expected to breeze in.

The professional player is now barred as coach or official in the conference. The amendment would permit him to coach or officiate provided he is not also engaged in professional play. It is no retroactive as is the present rule.

The football officials will be grouped in squads of four each and the squad will be assigned to games. This may be attacked by coaches who might not care for one member of the squad assigned to one of his games.

At any rate the annual meeting should be a lively one. These conferences are never very stable.

Smithie Trackmen
Plan for Season

Tech High's annual track practice was started Monday afternoon with more than 40 candidates reporting to Coach Frank Kopf.

Five members of the 1933 team answered the call and with that group Coach Kopf hopes to build a winning team. The Smithies have been without a track title for several years.

Veterans who reported are: Captain Brian Cunningham, pole vaulter; Harvey Pitner, high jump; Thurston Willis, half mile; Harry Fincher, quarter-mile, and Charlie Jaerl, dashes.

A schedule of dual matches with other city prep teams, a city-wide event and several big meets is being arranged for the Smithies.

Two More Chisox
Sign 1934 Contracts

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The signing of two more members of the Chicago White Sox squad, Catchers Mervyn Shea and John Pask, were received today by President Louis Comiskey.

Shea was obtained in a trade with St. Louis in which Catcher Frank Grube went to the Browns. Pask came from Detroit via Philadelphia in the deal in which Pitcher George Earnshaw came to the White Sox, and Catcher Charlie Berry went from Chicago to the Athletics. Philadelphia got Pask from Detroit as part of the deal sending Mickey Cochrane to the Tigers.

CAIRO SOUTHPAW CARRIES FIGHT TO VETERAN FOE

Champ Forced To Limit
To Gain Draw With Georgian.

By Jack Troy.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, ARENA, MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5.—They do say that not even his own mamma can get close to him when the light-heavyweight championship of the world is at stake, but Joe Knight, aggressive Georgia challenger, kept relentlessly on top of "Slapsy Maxie" Rosenbloom tonight only to be rewarded with what the judges called a draw in 15 rounds.

And so the roses that bloomed with Rosenbloom are fragrant, though fading tonight. Rosenbloom was tiring toward the end. Southpaw body punches employed by Knight left their mark.

ROSE WARNED.
Rosenbloom frequently was warned by Referee Harry Graham about backhand punches. Rosenbloom is the envy of the tennis players. He has the most accomplished backhand in the business.

It all the punches Maxie missed as Knight bobbed around the Madison Square Garden ring were placed end to end, they would likely reach from here to Port Arthur and back.

Knight came out of the title scrap undamaged. Rosenbloom caused Joe's nose to bleed early when he landed with a right hand to the bridge of the nose, outside of that Knight looked the better of the two. He was fresher at the end.

Ringsiders were amazed at the decision. A crescendo of boos greeted the announcement. "Another Florida decision!" said those who were here in 1929 when Sharkey was adjudged the winner over the late W. L. Stripling.

Knight carried the fight to Rosenbloom in the majority of the rounds. What seems a just decision would give Knight at least six rounds, Rosenbloom four and the remainder even. But the contest goes into the records as a draw. And that is that.

GREW STRONGER.
Knight, dark, handsome Georgian, refuted all beliefs that he is not a 15-round man. As the fight progressed, he grew stronger as the fight progressed.

Had Joe counter-punched tonight it is probable the decision would have gone his way, and Georgia become the proud possessor of her first white boxing champion. Even a draw was a triumph. Few have been able to stick with a champion's face as long as he took the title away from Jimmy Slattery in 1930.

A crowd estimated at 20,000, pulling a gate of something like $35,000, was largely a Knight crowd.

The challenger started fast and easily won the first two rounds. Rosenbloom, fighting cautiously, was around the fifth after an interim of rather slow proceedings, but Knight was unimpressed. Knight kept boring in with a right hand, and the champion's face landed left hooks to the body that made Rosenbloom wince.

Slapsy Maxie clinched frequently, tied Knight up and held his arms. But Knight refused to dance. He took the play away from the Harlem playboy by getting away and punching.

ROSEY MISSES.
The thirteenth round found the fight about even as they go. And this time, Maxie's counter-punching was around the fifth after an interim of rather slow proceedings, but Knight was unimpressed. Knight kept boring in with a right hand, and the champion's face landed left hooks to the body that made Rosenbloom wince.

Squad of 66 Candidates Answer Tech's Spring Practice Call

BOYS LOOK GOOD FIRST DAY; ALEX REMAINS SILENT

Says All He Knows Is That He Has a Fullback.

By Ralph McGill.

Mr. William Alexander, the Georgia Tech football coach, stood on the Rose Bowl award Monday afternoon and watched 66 young hopefuls stream toward the gates for the first day of spring football practice.

Before him was the material from which the 1934 fall team must be made.

"What do you think of the prospects?" asked one of those reporter people who are always hanging about.

"Well," said W. A. Alexander, peering fondly toward Jack Phillips, "all I know is that I have a fullback."

ALEX SILENT. And that is all he would say. He has a fullback. He may be somewhat in the condition of the gentleman who had two antique door hinges and proposed to build a house about them.

But he went about the job with a thoroughness that was characteristic.

The reporter person asked Mr. Alexander if he intended to spring any new shift on the good people; any new football legend.

"Why, no," he said, "just barnyard football. The sort any animal can understand."

The 66 football players included, of course, some young men who came out with the big dream. They had neither the physical capacity nor the weight for it. But now and then, in one of those slight figures, there is a football genius.

But the squad looked good. It was not an exceptional one. There was no great weight there. There was no thought to be any great weight. It was just an average lot of American boys.

Mr. Mike Chambers, clad in a beautiful red and gray jacket and flannel trousers, introduced the boys to setting-up exercises.

He gave them a good workout and of course, some young men who came out with the big dream. They had neither the physical capacity nor the weight for it. But now and then, in one of those slight figures, there is a football genius.

There was no contact work. The backs were separated from the line men and the work given each was something fitting their line of toil.

The list of those who will be missing reads like an honor roll of the 1933 team—Bob Tharpe and Charlie Brady, tackles; John Pool, center; Eddie Laws and Tarzan Lackey, guards; Jimmie Slocum and Tom Spradling, ends; and Wink Davis and Wilbur Petersen, halfbacks.

PHILLIPS' AIDS. Jack Phillips, the big buckaroo who passes as well as he backs a line, will return to handle the fullback role and will be aided by Bill McKay and Dick Beard, who are stepping up from the freshman ranks.

Shorty Roberts, the midge quarterback, also will be on hand. Next fall he may alternate his duties with Marvin Boyd and one of the brightest of the freshman stars, Lawrence Hays.

Sundial Martin, Jere Perkerson, Billy Street, John McKinley and John Ferguson will return as halfbacks, with Crichton, a reserve last year and Fritz Owens and Jimmy Moore up from the freshman group as contenders.

Three centers will be on deck, Carl Shaw and Circus Lyons, who had some experience last season, and Charlie Freston, looked upon as probably the best freshman lineman of 1933.

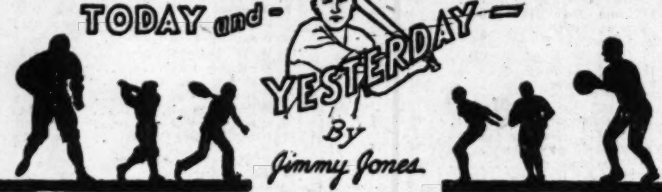

The Wilcox brothers, Dave and John, again will hold down the guard positions. Other guards include Mutt Morris, Bob Warner, Barbra, Carr, Matthews, Estes, Fisher, Litzerman and Drennon.

Clyde Williams has one tackle position clinched. Other tackles are Lefty Eubanks, Fitzsimmons, Phil Chance, Bill Ray, Oscar Smith, Lindsey, Earthon and McClure.

The ends include Hoot Gibson, Morris Katz, Gilbert Stacy and Oscar Thompson, all members of last year's varsity. Norris Dean, a fullback last season, will be tried at end, as will Ernest Tharpe, fourth in the line of Tharpe brothers at Tech, who formerly played halfback. Other include Guy Sackett, Burt Boulware, Raymond Callaway and John Davis.

The Tech practice will last about six weeks. Coach Alexander expects upwards of 50 candidates.

FAMOUS GEORGIA ATHLETES TODAY and YESTERDAY

Editor's Note—Did you know that before the days of Young Stribling, Tiger Flowers and Joe Knight, the state of Georgia had a nationally known prize fighter? That fighter's name is Jake Abel, lightweight and welterweight title contender of the early 'twenties, with whom this article deals.

Jake Abel

"Yesirree," said the sleek, youngish looking man behind the hotel register, "we can fix you up with a shower all right."

He banged the bell at his elbow, but Jake Abel did not leap into a fighter's pose at the sound of the bell, as some of our ex-fighters do. Jake was too smart ever to let himself get that way and he quit the fight game with Terry Nelson, the tough Greek, which started at 20 minutes of 10 p. m. one night and lasted until 12:30 a. m. and 2 hours and 50 minutes of fighting.

That was in the day of private grudge fights, with side bets attached, because the Georgia law forbade (and still forbids) anything longer than 10 rounds.

It was one of those winter-take-all affairs. Jake won the fight and the purse of $150 soon after the stroke of midnight.

And there was another hectic scrap that stands out in his memory—the 20-round "private" fight with Frankie Whitney at the Atlanta Athletic Club, also back in the pre-war days.

Whitney, the well-known sports writer, was referee of this debacle. Whitney got the decision and Abel, as his share of the 60-40 purse, the sum of $200.

OVERSEAS. Jake, while born in Chattanooga, Tenn., came to Atlanta in 1910 and thereafter did most of his fighting in both the light and welter divisions of this city, saving in the years of 1918, when he was overseas wearing Uncle Sam's khaki and campaigning in inter-allied scraps, and the latter part of 1919, when he went to the Pacific coast and won the coast welterweight title.

He can really tell you something of the early days of the fight business in Georgia, can Jake Abel. Those were the days of slim purses and long fights. And the galleries who flitted with John Law to attend them, really got their money's worth.

The fans who went to see fights in that era probably would find sound asleep at some of the jabbing exhibitions that are put on now in the name of pugilism.

Despite the handicaps, the sport of modified murder, as good old Bill McGeehan so termed it, seems to have flourished in the south during this period. Almost every Dixie city had at least one well known scrapper and they seemed to run to the welters and the middleweight classes.

BILLY LOTZ BANNER. In Atlanta there were Eddie Hanlon, now a city policeman; Yank O'Brien and Frankie Whitney, who fought under the banner of that venerable patriarch of the managerial business, Uncle Billy Lotz.

Memphis had Pat Moore, a very tough bantam of the day, and Gene Delmont, a lightweight.

New Orleans had Joe Mandot, with whom Jake Abel fought a rousing scrap at Chattanooga in 1912, and several other good ones.

One rainy afternoon several days ago, the writer dropped into the lobby of Jake Abel's hotel, the Jefferson, to chat with him of the good old days. He reviewed his meetings with these men and many others.

"But now, let me tell you about the toughest fight I ever had," "Was it with Leonard, Lewis or Britton?" we queried, feeling sure that one of these would be right.

Jake Abel shook a negative head. "Was it the 41-round fight with Terry Nelson, the tough Greek that lasted until 12:30?" we guessed the second time.

"No, it was in Havana, Cuba, with a bird named Soldier Lawson—a southerner. I'll never forget the hot day in 1920 when we met a new Jay-Lai fronton in a 12-round fight."

"This Lawson couldn't box a lick, but, boy, how he could slug! It was another winner-take-all and Soldier quit with the gloves in 1922. His last fight, interesting enough, was with the late Young Stribling, who fought for the southern welterweight title in Macon in July, 1922. The men met at 146 pounds. And Stribling, then a pompadoored schoolboy, coming up through the divisions, decided the veteran Abel.

The bout attracted south-wide interest and Stribling's victory boosted his stock in this section considerably. Abel retired after that to the peaceful life of a businessman. He and his brother entered the hotel business in October 1922, and have been in it every since. He looks good today, too, weighing only eight pounds more than when he fought and with one inch more waistline.

Like most of Georgia's outstanding athletes, Abel has made good in fields other than that of sport. He is a past president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's Association and second vice president of the state association.

He is married and the proud father of a daughter and son, the former five years old and the latter five months. He is a Mason and Legionnaire. Address Jefferson Hotel, Atlanta, Ga.

SMITHIES PLAY CADETS; MARIST MEETS BOYS' HI

N. G. I. C. Teams Practicing for Gainesville Tourney Thursday.

Tech High and dBoys' High will open the semi-final week of the regular basketball schedule in tough games this afternoon. The Smithies play G. M. A. at 3:30 o'clock on the College Park court and Boys' High plays Marist at the same time on the Henry Grady court.

It will be the first of a two-game series between Tech High and G. M. A. in which the city prep championship will be at stake. G. M. A. and Boys' High broke even in their series and both have a couple of games with the Smithies yet to be played.

Marist plays Boys' High in the last game of the season for the Cadets, in preparation for series tournaments which open the latter part of this week.

Boys' High defeated Marist some 10-0 in a game played last night. It showed considerable improvement and no winks or one of the favorites to win the North Georgia Interscholastic conference tournament which opens Thursday night in Gainesville.

Immediately following the Gainesville event, Marist will participate in the annual fifth district tourney which will be played February 15, 16 and 17, on the Tucker court.

Tech High suffered its only two defeats of the season in a road trip last week. The Smithies lost to Columbus Industrials and Lanier High after winning nine straight.

G. M. A. has shown a decided improvement in their games and last week squared accounts with Boys' High on the Purple's court.

Other members of the N. G. I. C. will continue their series of games Thursday before the annual tourney opens Thursday night on the Chippewa Mills court.

GEORGIA ENDS HOME SEASON

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 5.—Georgia's basketball team will close its home season in a battle with the Clemson Tigers at Woodruff hall here Tuesday night.

With the mid-point of their season already passed, the Bulldogs have won six games and lost four. Two victories each over the Clemson and Presbyterian College have helped the Bulldogs' average. The Georgia quintet has also beaten Florida once and Georgia Tech twice.

Starting with a sophomore squad, Coach Rex Enright has brought his boys along steadily. The Bulldogs played good basketball against Florida in Gainesville last week-end. The "Gators" won the game, but didn't win three contests from the Bulldogs and Tech has taken one.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

ALEX. J. MORRISON

Who hasn't hit a peach of a drive and then followed it with a mighty putt only to find that the ball is temporary or "winter" green kept the ball from stopping near the hole?

These winter greens are used to preserve the regular greens and though the former have been rough and uneven surfaces for you to putt over you should bear in mind that they are only a temporary arrangement.

It's true that putting over rough surfaces will drive away your putting touch but you should not try to hole anything but the shortest of putts on these areas. If you must putt on them seriously, use a putting cleek or a number two iron to roll the ball up close to the hole.

'Pa' Gives Up Fight Game-Report

According to reports reaching Atlanta, W. L. (Pa) Stribling, father of the late W. L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia's most famous heavyweight boxer, has given up the fight game and has come into the lumber business in Charleston, S. C.

While this was not verified at the time, it also was reported that "Pa" has released all his fighters from contract, including Jimmy Maloney, and will retire from the business of managing for good.

In addition to his two sons, Pa has managed a number of fighters in his time, including Clyde Chestnut, Mike Maurer, Jimmy Boy Sipes, Bill McGowan, Maloney and others.

Baby Stribling, younger brother of W. L., will continue to fight independently.

Since his older son died, Pa Stribling has had little luck in the fight game, his latest heavyweight protégé, Maloney, losing to Johnny Risko by a wide margin in Miami recently.

Joe Moore Signs His 1934 Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The New York Giants today announced another addition to their list of satisfactory players, Joe Moore, the skinny left fielder and lead-off man of the world champions.

His was the twenty-fourth signed contract released by Secretary Jim Tierney.

City League

Three well-balanced games will feature the city league basketball schedule tonight at the Y. M. C. A. starting at 7 o'clock.

In the opening game, the Beck & Gregg outfit will scrap it out with the Blue Eagles for possession of the cellar position.

The Blue Eagles and Beck & Gregg have not won a game during the second half of the schedule although both outfits have lost close and exciting games in almost every case.

Gott Reifling and Harrison & Short clash in what is expected to be one of the best games of the night. Harrison & Short, second place in the league standings, will be the favorite to win.

Golf has some of the best players in the city, who have been considerably strengthened by the addition of Joe Tietze and Johnny McGowan.

Although Golf has dropped two games, both to the Parks-Chambers team, they hold one of the most impressive records in the state. Jim Clark and Mike Nichols have performed wonders as point-keepers for the Golfers. Fincher, Golf center, is tied with Wild Bill Strickland for the high-point honors of the city, each having scored 100 markers in eight games played.

Harrison has been an outstanding challenger during the last half of the league play, having lost only to the Clothiers.

In the final game of the program, Parks-Chambers clashes with the strong Shell quintet. A slight let-down by the Parks-Chambers outfit, who have been fighting their way to victory, Ed Copeland, Mike Hudson and Beltonn give the Shell five one of the best scoring combinations in the league.

Tonight's schedule at Y. M. C. A.: Beck & Gregg vs. Blue Eagles, 7 o'clock. Golf vs. Harrison & Short, 8 o'clock. Parks-Chambers vs. Shell, 9 o'clock.

Hank Crisp Joins 'Ace' Golfers' Club. TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Hank Crisp, athletic director of the University of Alabama and head basketball coach, joined the Ace Club yesterday, scoring an ace on the 110-yard number two hole of the Tuscaloosa Country Club golf course.

Crisp's iron tee shot struck the green and rolled into the cup.

He was playing in a foursome with Coach Harold Drew, Hugh Friedman and Claude Stallworth.

V-8's Defeat Triangles, 46-42

By Roy White.

Chattanooga's V-8 quintet won the southern independent basketball championship with a 46-42 decision over the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. Triangles Monday night before a small crowd at city auditorium. The V-8s won the first two games, 35-33 and 29-27 in Chattanooga and made it a clean sweep of the three-game series.

It was one of the best-played basketball games of the season here and both teams opening up with every possible chance.

The Chattanooga team appeared a trifle slow in the first half and trailed, 20 to 14, at the intermission, but tightened up considerably in the second half and won out.

The Triangles rallied near the end of the game, but the V-8s began to play it safe and took few chances after having several points to spare.

Chattanooga's close guarding and accurate field goal shooting in the second half was the feature of the game. The visitors after sinking only one of 25 shots in the first half came back with 13 out of 21 tries in the second half. A majority of the second-half attempts were made from close range. Chattanooga made 8 out of 15 foul attempts.

The Triangles scored seven field goals out of 37 attempts in the first half and a majority of their chances from long range, but when the V-8s tightened up in the second half, the Triangles were cut to 24 tries and so rushed were those that only five field goals were recorded. Atlanta made 18 out of 26 foul attempts.

Wild Bill Strickland, the Y center, led the scorers with 20 points, 10 of which came from four tries. Virgil Moore and Tommy Reeder, two former Georgia stars, shared second honors for the Triangles.

Bill Mitchell set the pace for Chattanooga with 19 points, 18 of which came from field goals. He missed only three tries, which was plenty good shooting for a dual point guard. Virgil Moore and Tommy Reeder, two former Georgia stars, shared second honors for the Triangles.

FARRELL TIES RECORD.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—John Farrell shot a 68 Sunday to tie the course record of the Hollywood Country Club course as he teamed with Mrs. Estelle Weill, of Woodmere, N. Y., to defeat Joe Lally, of Hollywood, and Maureen O'Connell, of White Beeches, N. Y., 1 up in a four-ball exhibition golf match.

The Best GRAY HAIR REMEDY IS MADE AT HOME

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce hair run, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerin. Any drugstore can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Barbo imparts color to grays, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. Do not be misled by cheap imitations. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained.

IN MEMORIAM
(COLORED)
In loving memory of our dear wife, devoted mother and sister, who passed away three years ago today, February 6, 1931.

MRS. ROBERT FREEMAN EVANS
MRS. GERALDINE MORRIS

NASH is shooting ahead faster and faster—every day a greater favorite—as an aftermath of the Automobile Shows in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Detroit, Chicago, and other cities. One record follows another. Success is pyramiding! Biggest November since 1929! Biggest December since 1926! Biggest January since 1929! In three months alone, shipments of 1934 Nash cars have passed by 20% the total year's production of Nash 1933 models! Thousands everywhere are saying of the 1934 Nash... "That's the car I want to own!" They want a Nash for the smartness of Nash

"Speedstream" style. For the skill of Nash engineering. For the snap and dash of Nash Twin Ignition valve-in-head performance. For the luxury of Nash coachwork. For the comfort of Nash riding quality—with or without individually-sprung front wheels (optional at slight extra cost). You'll know quick enough why Nash is clicking if you'll just take a trial drive in a 1934 Nash. You'll know it every time you sprint around cars in traffic. You'll know it every time you climb a hill. You'll know it every time you round a curve. You'll know it every time you apply the brakes. Good? It's great! The proof is in a ride!

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

THIS 25c TEST FREE

If It Fails

Use this bladder laxative. Drive out the impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation that wakes you up. Get a regular 25-cent box of BUKETS, made from buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc. After four days' test, if not satisfied, go back and get your 25c. They work on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Bladder irregularity is nature's danger signal and may warn you of trouble. You are bound to feel better after this treatment and you get your regular sleep. Jacobs Pharmacy says BUKETS is a best seller.—(adv.)
